IRISH PEACE TALK OFF UNTIL MONDAY

Lloyd-George and De Valera Conferred Again Today For An Hour And Half—Ulster Premier Called To London.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 15.—The peace conference of Premier Lloyd-George and Eamon de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," have been discontinued for the time being but will be renewed later. Following the meeting between the two officials today at 10 Downing street, the following officials communique was issued:

"A conference was held today. It will be resumed, probably on Monday." O'Brien, head of the Irish Sinn Féin, and the Ulster League and Eamon de Valera, indicated that there were no matters to be considered by each side separately before the conferences of Lloyd-George and the Irish "president" are renewed. O'Brien said he did not believe there would be any more meetings between the two negotiators this week.

While the peace negotiations were in progress news came from Belfast of fresh disorders in violation of the armistice.

The second peace meeting lasted about an hour and a half. The Sinn Féin leader left the premier's official residence at ten minutes to one after a discussion of Irish affairs in secret.

Premier Lloyd-George and Sir James Craig conferred during the afternoon.

It was revealed this afternoon that both de Valera and Sir James Craig have made peace proposals to the British government. The premier summoned a conference of the cabinet tonight to reflect the fears of the Ulster Unionists that "Lloyd-George may be about to betray them to the Sinn Féiners."

The Morning Post declared that the premier's boast of a settlement might have political significance in England, being intended as the means of pulling the premier victoriously through a general election, which is now expected in five or six months.

"The Ulster premier is too shrewd to be inveigled into a false position. It must be admitted that the northern state (Ulster) is now exposed to a most serious peril," said the Morning Post.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, arrived this afternoon from Belfast.

The only statement he would make was: "I am hopeful and I can say no more."

There seemed to be a lessening of the optimism at de Valera's headquarters during the afternoon although persons close to Downing street said they were well satisfied with the course the negotiations were taking.

Both the Sinn Féiners and the Unionists have presented proposals and Premier Lloyd-George suggested that both sides consider the terms over Sunday, thus giving time for communication with Dublin and Belfast.

In the meantime the premier had an opportunity this afternoon and will have further opportunity tomorrow to learn in detail the attitude of Sir James Craig towards de Valera's suggestions.

It is expected that de Valera will reply to the premier's reply early next week. By Wednesday it should be definitely known whether or not a general peace conference will be held.

De Valera's headquarters authorized a brief statement, saying:

"The negotiations are by no means ended. They will continue."

The morning newspapers are taking care not to create undue optimism on the part of the public.

There was a noticeable lack of comment in the morning papers upon the initial meeting of the premier and the Sinn Féin leader yesterday.

Not even secretaries nor stenographers were present at the conference. According to the Evening Standard, de Valera is still emphasizing the importance of Irish unity and the government is hopeful of securing a full conference with both the north and south of Ireland represented.

Most of the papers contented themselves with plain accounts of the meeting.

The Daily Herald, organ of the British labor party, expressed the hope that the general peace parley will be successfully arranged, but is public so that there can be no charge of "secret diplomacy."

De Valera arrived at 10 Downing street shortly after 11 o'clock. There was a large crowd in front of the premier's residence and they cheered the Irish leader.

The premier and de Valera greeted each other cordially and then again went into conference alone.

"The Irish representatives have nothing to conceal and unless the English have something that they wish to hide they should welcome publicity," said the Daily Herald.

"Regarding rumors that the Irish would be content with a settlement involving partition of Ireland, it is scarcely worth while refuting such rubbish."

"There is not the faintest chance that the representatives would even consider a settlement that would violate the unity and nationhood of Ireland."

"Although Thursday's conference was comparatively brief it was not without hope," said the Chronicle.

"It is a good sign that Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has been summoned to London. We hope that the public will avoid premature speculation about issues and offers."

The Ulster premier was summoned

REV. INGERSOLL WILL BE PASTOR.

The members of the Wurts Street Baptist Church and congregation held a largely attended business meeting in the church parlors Thursday evening at which time the pulpit committee made their report and presented the names of several candidates for the pastorate of the church. The Rev. R. P. Ingersoll of Mount Tremper received three fourths of all the ballots cast and upon motion Dr. Ingersoll was extended a unanimous call to become pastor of this church. It is understood Dr. Ingersoll will accept the call and will assume his duties about the first of October.

Few ministers in this part of the state are better known or thought more of than Dr. Ingersoll and his many friends in Kingston will be delighted to know that he has been chosen pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church which has one of the finest and best equipped church properties in the state. Dr. Ingersoll is now located at Mount Tremper where he has been conducting a general store and supplying the pulpit of three different churches on Sunday. He will turn over the conduct of the store to his son and come to Kingston to live on assuming his duties in the fall. Dr. Ingersoll besides being a forceful and earnest preacher who believes in the old fashioned gospel and the faith of the fathers is also a fine singer and the members of the Wurts Street Baptist Church consider themselves fortunate in getting Dr. Ingersoll to take up the work in Kingston.

CITY WATER IN TUBBY STREET

Water Board Accept Extension Committee's Favorable Report for the Extension of Water Main Through That Street.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of water commissioners held Thursday afternoon the report of the extension committee, who reported favorably on the extension of the water main through Tubby street, was received and accepted. The work of extending the water main will be taken up later by the water department.

The residents of Tubby street are without city water, and have filed petitions both with the board of public works and the water board. The street has to be placed at grade before the water board can lay its water main, but at a recent meeting of the public works board it was decided to have the work done.

The board also decided to purchase wooden signs to be erected on the reservoir property calling attention to the fact that trespassing is forbidden.

It was also decided to have the buildings at Reservoir No. 2 painted. Bills and claims against the board were ordered paid, and the board then adjourned.

"Lone Wolf" Hanged.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, July 15.—Harry Ward, known as the "Lone Wolf," and "The most dangerous criminal in Illinois," was hanged in the county jail here today for the murder of two men. His execution followed the refusal of Governor Small to grant a reprieve.

No Sunday Baseball.

The village board of Ellenville has declined to pass an ordinance allowing Sunday baseball in that village.

By Premier Lloyd-George for a conference. It is believed that he will arrive from Belfast some time today.

Formal recognition of the active part King George has been playing in the peace negotiations was given by the premier in his speech at the dinner of the coalition members of parliament last night.

"I have met the cabinet and have reported to the king," said the premier. "The king is taking the keenest and closest interest in the proceedings. Much is attributable to his intervention and we owe him a deep debt of gratitude for this great service he has rendered to the world."

It would have been hard to tell Thursday evening who was the happier, a group of thirty children, members of the family of the Industrial Home, or Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lay, their host and hostess at Kingston Point Park during the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Lay had invited the children and the matrons to come to the point as their guests for an afternoon of fun and pleasure, and they certainly had more than the anticipated good time. There were rides on the merry-go-round; swings in the big swings; a look at the pictures at the penny arcade; then everybody had ice cream twice, and candy and cracker-jack, so that the time from half past one to half past five just flew by. And what do you think was the crowning feature of the picnic? Why, Mr. Lay and the children had their pictures taken together and then the happy, grateful youngsters left for home after giving three lusty cheers for their generous and kindly host and hostess. Car fare to and from the point was contributed by Mr. Tebow of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad. What's more, in spite of the goodies consumed every body at the home is well and happy and still enjoying talking about Thursday's good times.

125 PHEASANTS ARE DISTRIBUTED

Carlton S. Preston received this morning fifteen crates of pheasants consigned to the Ulster County Fish and Game Association for distribution throughout Ulster county. There were perhaps 125 of the little birds which were distributed during the day at Pine Hill, Phoenixia, Ellenville, Highland, New Paltz, Sawkill, Hurley, Binnewater and Shokan. The Ulster County Fish and Game Association is a live organization which does considerable work toward restocking the streams and woods of the county with fish and fowl and keeping up the high standard of the county as a fishing and hunting section.

WESTON LECTURING

At Summer Chautauqua at Sahler Sanitarium.

Walter N. Weston was the lecturer at the Dr. C. O. Sahler Summer Chautauque Thursday night. His lecture on "Healing" was given to a series that he is to give. "Yourself" is the subject for this evening. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the rare opportunity of hearing so splendid a speaker as Mr. Weston. He is famous throughout the country as being one of the most able and forceful speakers on metaphysical subjects.

At the lecture tonight music will be given by Miss Nell Beatrice Duff, soprano, and Mr. Kaufman, pianist.

Newburgh Crescents Want Games.

The Crescents of Newburgh have won 15 out of 17 games played this season, also have a record of 12 straight wins. We have a few open dates and would like to hear from Saugerties, Catskill or any Kingston teams that have home grounds. Our open dates are August 21 and 28 (Sundays), July 23, August 13, August 27 and September 3 (Saturdays). We also have Labor Day open (two games). I guarantee the Crescents to be one of the fastest teams in this vicinity and can get room and board to back what I say. If any team is in doubt I would be pleased to close any of these dates mentioned with teams stated above. Thanking you, I am yours in sport Harold Frost manager Crescents A.C., 241 Third street, Newburgh, N. Y.

ICE CREAM PLANT

To Be Located In Kingston, It Is Said.

The Newburgh News says: Negotiations are under way by which the International Ice Cream Co., of Schenectady will establish a large ice cream distributing plant in Newburgh. It is probable that an investment of $20,000 or more will be made here.

It is probable that the company will erect a factory in Kingston. J. Walter Cutter, local representative of the company, has been striving to get the factory located in Newburgh but Kingston is regarded as a more strategic point and is likely to get the factory. The International is now selling great quantities of cream here.

Will Meet At Beaver Dam.

The Medical Society of the County of Ulster have accepted the invitation of their president, Dr. George F. Wilkoff of Ellenville, and will hold their annual outing this summer at Beaver Dam. The outing will take place on Wednesday, July 20, the doctors, their wives and families being invited. Mrs. Backmann will serve dinner at 1:30 and those who have eaten one of Mrs. Backmann's good dinners will assure the members of the society that they may rest perfectly easy regarding the quality of the eats that await them.

Excursion to Point Tomorrow.

The annual excursion of the Jermain Memorial Sunday School of Albany will take place Saturday when the members will come to Kingston Point on their annual outing.

OBREGON DENIES RESCINDING TAX

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mexico City, July 15.—Reports in the United States yesterday that Mexico had rescinded the tax increase on petroleum exports were denied today by President Obregon.

"The government has not changed its policy upon the oil tax," said President Obregon.

REVOLT STARTS IN TAMPICO OIL FIELD

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Mexico City, July 15.—Government officials declared today that they were not disturbed over the revolutionary uprising in the Tampico oil fields and that they expected it to be quelled in a short time.

Reports that soldiers under General Maguel Pelaez had joined the insurrection were officially confirmed by the war department.

Pelaez was in Mexico City when news came of the uprising. He had been conferring with President Obregon and General Estrada, the secretary of war, on conditions in the Tampico oil fields. He was placed under arrest, but protested that he was innocent of any connection with the rebel movement.

He said that when he left Tampico he left his troops in trustworthy hands.

General D. M. Herrera and General Alejandro Chao were reported to have joined the insurgents.

General Pelaez led an uprising in the Tampico district, during the administration of President Carranza.

It was reported that certain oil interests were interested in the revolutionary movement, but this was not confirmed.

General Estrada issued a statement reassuring the public. It was printed by the Mexico City newspapers.

More troops are being ordered into the Tampico and Tuxpam oil fields to protect the interests of the companies.

GETS STATE SCHOLARSHIP.

Kenneth Van Wynon of Kerhonkson Can Go to Cornell.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 15.—(Special.)—Kenneth Van Wynon, Kerhonkson, Ulster county, has been awarded a state scholarship at Cornell University as the result of an examination conducted by the state education department on June 4, which was taken by hundreds of high school and academic pupils all over the state. Under the law each assembly district is entitled to at least one scholarship at Cornell. It carries with it full tuition and other perquisites which render the full course without expense to the winner of a scholarship.

Leo Turiansky, Glen Wild, Sullivan county, also won a Cornell scholarship.

Katrine a Popular Resort.

Even though the weather has been excessively hot it has not prevented a large attendance at the weekly dance held in Katrine Grange Hall each Friday evening. The refreshments served by the ladies of the Grange are appreciated by the many who like home-made cake, etc. Many summer camps and cottages in the vicinity are all leased and occupied now, and the population is therefore considerably increased during the heated season. The camping facilities along the creek at this point are unexcelled and each year becoming more popular.

Drowned At New York.

Charles Petersen, formerly of the town of New Paltz, and a soldier in the World War in New York fell off a ferry boat of the Pennsylvania Company by whom he was employed on Monday night and was drowned. The body was found the next day. Mr. Petersen was a brother of Arnold Petersen of New Paltz. He leaves a widow. In the World War he served in Co. K of 7th shikkee in the 27th Division and was in action on the Hindenberg line.

McCauley a Director.

Arthur McCauley, former president of the Ulster County Society in the city of New York, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Journal of Commerce of New York city. Mr. McCauley is a former Kingstonian, and is a member of the law firm of Parker, Marshall, Miller & Auchincloss.

Dominic Sotillo of this city has purchased the Marion Baker farm near the Jacksonburg bridge at Arena and will take possession at once. The purchase price was $4,500.

PRICE ARRESTED FOR AUTO DEAL

Frank L. Price alias Franklin Fair, Harris Freer and Harry Peir, was brought to the Ulster county jail Thursday afternoon by Sheriff Kolts and Jailer Robert Every from Schenectady, having gone by auto after him. Price was arrested at Schenectady by the police on a warrant issued by Police Justice Henry E. McKenzie charging him with grand larceny in the first degree, who turned him over to Sheriff Kolts. Patrick Baldwin of the town of Esopus is the complainant and it is alleged that he and Price had an automobile deal and that the latter turned over to him a car upon which there was a chattel mortgage. The car was traded later by Baldwin with a Newburgh party and still later was replevined by the party who alleges he held the chattel mortgage. In the meantime Price had disappeared and finally was located at Schenectady where he was arrested and Sheriff Kolts notified. Price claims that the chattel mortgage had been satisfied but failed to have it cancelled of record. The man under arrest says he is an automobile salesman and dealer. According to a card on which there are two photo front views of him, it is stated that he had been arrested on March 16, 1921, at Daytona, Florida, on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree in stealing an auto and keeping the proceeds from sale. He was held for ten days and discharged because of insufficient evidence.

Will Join Volstead Experts.

It is stated that William Riskey of Albany, formerly of this city, will join the law firm being formed by Charles R. O'Connor and George L. Donnellan of New York city, which will specialize in cases arising under the Volstead Act. Mr. O'Connor, whose home is at Delhi, until recently was federal enforcement officer for the state of New York, in which position he has ample opportunity to become familiar with the stringent provisions of that act. There should be ample business for the new law firm in New York. Mr. Riskey is a graduate of Kingston Academy and after his admission to the bar was associated for some time with Judge John P. Grant at Stamford.

Robberies At Walden.

Thieves Wednesday night entered the Fairchild garage and stole $50 from the cash register, burglarized Seely's lumber yard office and Hornbeck's garage, all of Walden, where they also stole the Buick car of Earl H. Houghtaling which he bought Wednesday. Mr. Peck, who conducts the Newman chicken farm near Coldenham, placed some groceries in his Ford car on Main street Thursday forenoon. He returned to the car to find his groceries stolen as well as his coat containing his bank book and other papers. There is no clue as yet to the thieves.

Uncovered Garbage Cans Persist.

In spite of several warnings by citizens who live along the streets two garbage collectors were out again this morning collecting garbage in up-town street with uncovered cans. The stench of the passing wagons is far from pleasant these hot days and certainly is a menace to health. Action ought to be taken by the board of health and the authorities to prevent these collectors from violating the law which requires covered cans to be used in collecting garbage in the city.

Ramblers to Play E. Kingston.

Jack McMahon's fast Rambler A. C. of this city will journey to East Kingston on Sunday where they will clash with the team of that place. The game will start at 3 o'clock that afternoon. Chot Tierney and Dave Volker will do the honors for the East Kingston nine. Manager McMahon, of the Ramblers, has had his men out practicing daily and they expect to return home with the scalp of the East Kingstonites.

JAPS HAVE HUGE AIR PROGRAM

Under Direction Of 50 British Experts They Are At Work On This Arm of Preparedness For War As Fevershly As In Navy And Army Upbuilding.

(While the rest of the world is on the verge of disarming, Japan is losing not a second in bolstering every branch of her armed preparedness. Duke N. Parry, staff correspondent of the International News Service in Tokio, has made a careful investigation of Japan's aviation program. Following is the first of a series of these stories on what he found):

By Duke N. Parry, International Staff Correspondent.

Copyright 1921 by International News Service.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Tokio, June 26.—(By special courier to San Francisco)—Japan, if she should go to war with the United States within the next ten years, would employ against the American naval section, aviators whose original instruction was received from British naval aviation experts—experts who for the last several months have been arriving in Japan.

While disarmament talk in the United States runs high, while opponents of preparedness measures throughout the United States gain favor for their beliefs, Japan goes "feverishly on" with preparations. Her diplomats and statesmen, non-committally agreeing that disarmament is a measure in which lies much good, her officials in some cases stating that Japan will look with favor upon such a disarmament conference as has been suggested, the imperial Japanese government, through its department of the navy is showing what will rank well along in the great national speed contests for preparation in building and in learning.

British former officers, former experts, and commercial designers, with mechanics, to the number of 59 positively, 74 possibly, have arrived in Japan in the last year. While not the representatives of the government of Great Britain, it is stated with authority, they have been chosen for the Japanese government by officials of the British government and this claim is borne out by the fact that all are men whose work for Great Britain would make them the ones who would most likely be chosen as those best able to instruct in naval aviation and construction. Japan announced informally in 1920 that the imperial Japanese navy hoped to have seventeen divisions in naval aviation trained and ready for duty in 1923. Fifteen of these divisions were to be the flying divisions while two were to be training.

Great Britain's commercial men, who send their representatives to Japan to teach and build for the Japanese are breaking no international custom by so doing.

Called the "unofficial mission" of Great Britain to Japan, the present group of naval aviation men now in this country is in no wise different from the military mission which trained the Japanese army and which came from France. The present group, which is headed by Lieutenant Colonel Meares, retired, of the British air forces, represents a business enterprise in Great Britain. Its members are finding employment in Japan far more lucrative than they could find in their own country; they are, if recommended by the British government, receiving some of the good post war treatment that is due ex-service men, and they are not to waste the official representatives of Great Britain.

This does not lessen the fact, nor make less interesting to Americans the fact that if war is declared at any time within the next ten years, American naval aviation men would go up against Japanese aviators whose preliminary instruction was given by America's one time ally, Great Britain.

Japan, as far back as 1919, began to realize her weakness in a line of warfare which has only in the past decade come to be included in the service branches of the powers. Before that time, when the peace was being settled, Japan had, to a degree, unnoticed, succeeded in getting planes allotted to her which are today being assembled and gone over by the rapidly improving Japanese aviation section. She ordered planes later from Great Britain and figures given subsequently in this account show to what extent her people are being taxed today, that the branch of naval aviation may be built up.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY.

Rain Today Portends Forty Days of Moisture.

Today is St. Swithin's Day, and as it rained it means according to an old superstition that it will rain on each one of the next forty days. There have been years, however, when the wet saint failed to live up to the power generally attributed to him. Scattered all over this section are a large number of people who will be pleased if it will rain on a sufficient number of days to shatter the hot spell that has been so disagreeable for the past three weeks.

Shrine Event at Middletown.

At Middletown, July 21, 22 and 23, will be held the Haymakers' Sessions of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. It promises to bring a host of people to that city and to be one of the biggest Shrine events held in the east in a long time.

Belfast Dead Now Three.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Belfast, July 15.—The hull in Ulster hostilities was suddenly broken today when firing broke out in several quarters of the city. Three persons are known to be dead, but it is believed that the fatalities were greater than this, as it is likely that bodies were secretly removed from the fighting areas.

Sinn Feiners Sentenced.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Manchester, England, July 15.—Sixteen Sinn Feiners, who had been convicted of treason and felonious crimes were today sentenced to from three to fifteen years. A crowd in the court room made a demonstration in favor of the prisoners and the galleries were cleared.

PROGRAM NOT FOR U. S. TO MAKE

Jap Inquiry Received at Washington—Scope Should Be Decided By Powers After They Get Together in Preliminary Negotiations, Thinks Administration.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 15.—Japan has asked the United States for a statement as to the scope of the proposed discussion of a Pacific and Far Eastern policy in the forthcoming disarmament conference, it was learned officially today.

State department officials refused to state whether this government has made reply to the Japanese communication but the impression prevailed that the state department has forwarded an answer.

The attitude of the United States with regard to the Japanese inquiry is that it is not for this nation to determine definitely the scope of the Far Eastern discussion, but that this is a matter to be decided by the powers concerned and participating in the conference. This government is of the opinion that there should be preliminary negotiations between the parties to the conference for an exchange of views as to the breadth of the discussion. It is understood that the viewpoint has been communicated to Japan.

The formal invitation of President Harding, it was pointed out, calls for a discussion of general principles of Far Eastern policy and does not indicate that this government has any intention of forcing the parity to consider definite problems, except as the conference itself desires to discuss those problems.

It was evident today that officials of this government do not feel that any nation can justly withhold its assent to join in the conference because of failure to set forth a definite program before the convening of the conference, and it is the hope of the administration that no nation will attempt to make its entrance into the conference conditional upon the preliminary formulation of a definite and precise program.

INVITATION BRINGS JAP QUESTIONS

She Wants to Know What Far East Problems Will Be Discussed—Britain Wants France and Italy Kept Out of Far East Matters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 15.—Japan wants to fully understand the scope of the proposed conference on Pacific and Far East problems before committing herself to either rejection or acceptance of President Harding's invitation. It was learned authoritatively today.

Inquiries to ascertain both the British and American viewpoints have been undertaken by Japanese statesmen. In the case of America, it was learned today, "certain questions have been propounded to Washington on behalf of the Japanese government," and until replies have been received, Japan will take no definite action.

Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, and Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador, have held a number of conferences on the proposals that have been made, and Curzon has been asked to make clear the British attitude.

It was also learned today that Great Britain is opposing the inclusion of France and Italy in the conference that will deal with the Pacific and Far East problems. The belief prevails among high British officials that the presence of France and Italy in the Pacific discussions will only lead to confusion, and that it would be better for all concerned if Great Britain, Japan and the United States are left alone to work out the policies of the Pacific and Far East, as they are the most interested parties.

IRISH PEACE TALK OFF UNTIL MONDAY

Lloyd-George and De Valera conferred again today for an hour and a half. Under Premier called to London.

By Telegram to The Freeman. The peace conference of Premier Lloyd-George and de Valera, "president of the Irish republic," have been discontinued for the time being but will be renewed later. Following the meeting between the two officials today at 10 Downing street, the following officials communique was issued:

"A conference was held today. It will be resumed, probably on Monday."

Art O'Brien, head of the Irish Self Determination League and colleague of de Valera, indicated that there were matters to be considered by each side separately before the conferences of Lloyd-George and the Irish "president" are resumed. O'Brien said he did not believe there would be any more meetings between the two negotiators this week.

While the peace negotiations were in progress news came from Belfast of fresh disorders in violation of the armistice.

The second peace meeting lasted about an hour and a half. The Sinn Féin leader left the premier's official residence at ten minutes to one after a discussion of Irish affairs in secret.

Premier Lloyd-George and Sir James Craig conferred during the afternoon.

It was revealed this afternoon that both de Valera and Sir James Craig had made peace proposals to the British government. The premier summoned a conference of the cabinet tonight to consider the proposals.

The Morning Post in an article today reflected the fears of the Unionists that "Lloyd-George may be about to betray them to the Sinn Féiners."

The Morning Post declared that the premier's boast of a settlement might have political significance in England, being intended as the means of pulling the premier victoriously through a general election which is now expected in five or six months.

"The Ulster Premier is too shrewd to be inveigled into a false position, but it must be admitted that the northern state (Ulster) is now exposed to a most serious peril," said the Morning Post.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, arrived this afternoon from Belfast.

The only statement he would make was: "I am hopeful and I can say no more."

There seemed to be a lessening of the optimism at de Valera's headquarters after the afternoon at Downing street said they were well satisfied with the course the negotiations were taking.

Both the Sinn Féiners and the Unionists have presented proposals to Premier Lloyd-George suggested that both sides consider the terms over Sunday, thus giving time for communication with Dublin and Belfast.

In the meantime the premier had an opportunity this afternoon and will have further opportunity tomorrow to learn in detail the attitude of Sir James Craig towards de Valera's suggestions.

It is expected that de Valera will reply to the premier's reply early next week. By Wednesday it should be definitely known whether or not a general peace conference will be held.

De Valera's headquarters authorized a brief statement, saying: "The negotiations are by no means ended. They will continue."

REV. INGERSOLL WILL BE PASTOR.

The members of the Wurts Street Baptist Church and congregation held a largely attended business meeting in the church parlors Thursday evening at which time the pulpit committee made their report and presented the names of several candidates for the pastorate of the church. The Rev. R. P. Ingersoll of Mount Tremper received three fourths of all the ballots cast and upon motion Dr. Ingersoll was extended a unanimous call to become pastor of this church. It is understood Dr. Ingersoll will accept the call and will assume his duties about the first of October.

Few ministers in this part of the state are better known or thought more of than Dr. Ingersoll and his many friends in Kingston will be delighted to know that he has been chosen pastor of the Wurts street Baptist Church which has one of the finest and best equipped church properties in the state. Dr. Ingersoll is now located at Mount Tremper where he has been conducting a general store and supplying the pulpit of three different churches on Sunday. He will turn over the conduct of the store to his son and come to Kingston to live on assuming his duties in the fall. Dr. Ingersoll besides being a forceful and earnest preacher who believes in the old fashioned gospel and the faith of the fathers is also a fine singer and the members of the Wurts Street Baptist Church consider themselves fortunate in getting Dr. Ingersoll to take up the work in Kingston.

CITY WATER IN TUBBY STREET

Water Board Accept Extension Committee's Favorable Report for the Extension of Water Main Through That Street.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of water commissioners held Thursday afternoon the report of the extension committee, who reported favorably on the extension of the water main through Tubby street, was received and accepted. The work of extending the water main will be taken up later by the water department.

The residents of Tubby street are without city water, and have filed petitions both with the board of public works and the water board. The street has to be placed at grade before the water board can lay its water main, but at a recent meeting of the public works board that board decided to have the work done.

The board also decided to purchase wooden signs to be erected on the reservoir property calling attention to the fact that trespassing is forbidden.

It was also decided to have the buildings at Reservoir No. 2 painted. Bills and claims against the board were ordered paid, and the board then adjourned.

"Love Wolf" Hanged.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago, July 15.—Harry Ward, known as the "Love Wolf," and "The most dangerous criminal in Illinois," was hanged in the county jail here today for the murder of two men. His execution followed the refusal of Governor Small to grant a reprieve.

No Sunday Baseball.

The village board of Ellenville has declined to pass an ordinance allowing Sunday baseball in that village.

Premier Lloyd-George for a conference. It is believed that he will arrive from Belfast some time today.

Formal recognition of the active part King George has been playing in the peace negotiations was given by the premier in his speech at the dinner of the auxiliary members of parliament last night.

It would have been hard to tell Thursday evening who was the happier, a group of thirty children, members of the family of the Industrial Home, or Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lay, their host and hostess at Kingston Point Park during the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Lay had invited the children and the matrons to come to the point as their guests for an afternoon of fun and pleasure, and they certainly had more than the anticipated good time. There were rides on the merry-go-round; swings in the big swings; a look at the pictures at the penny arcade; then everybody had ice cream twice, and candy and cracker-jack, so that the time from half past one to half past five flew by. And what do you think was the crowning feature of the picnic? Why, Mr. Lay and the children had their pictures taken together and then the happy, grateful youngsters left for home after giving three lusty cheers for their generous and kindly host and hostess. Car fare to and from the point was contributed by Mr. Tebow of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad. What's more, in spite of the goodies consumed, everybody at the Home is well and happy and still enjoying talking about Thursday's good times.

125 PHEASANTS ARE DISTRIBUTED

Carlton S. Preston received this morning fifteen crates of pheasants consigned to the Ulster County Fish and Game Association for distribution throughout Ulster county. There were perhaps 125 of the little birds which were distributed during the day at Pine Hill, Phoenicia, Ellenville, Highland, New Paltz, Sawkill, Hurley, Binnewater and Shokan. The Ulster County Fish and Game Association is a live organization which does considerable work toward restocking the streams and woods of the county with fish and fowl and keeping up the high standard of the county as a fishing and hunting section.

WESTON LECTURING

At Summer Chautauqua at Sahler Sanitarium.

Walter N. Weston was the lecturer at the Dr. C. O. Sahler Summer Chautauqua Thursday night. His lecture on "Healing" was the first of a series that he is to give. "Yourself" is the subject for this evening. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the rare opportunity of hearing so splendid a speaker as Mr. Weston. He is famous throughout the country as being one of the most able and forceful speakers on metaphysical subjects.

At the lecture tonight music will be given by Miss Nell Beatrice Duff, soprano, and Mr. Kaufman, pianist.

Newburgh Crescents Want Games.

The Crescents of Newburgh have won 15 out of 17 games played this season, also have a record of 12 straight wins. We have a few open dates and would like to hear from Saugerties, Catskill or any Kingston teams that have home grounds. Our open dates are August 21 and 23 (Sundays), July 23, August 13, August 27 and September 3 (Saturdays). We also have Labor Day open (two games). I guarantee the Crescents to be one of the fastest teams in this vicinity and can get recommendations to back what I say. If any team is in doubt I would be pleased to close any of these dates mentioned with teams stated above. Thanking you, I am yours in sport Harold Frost, manager Crescents A.C. 241 Third street, Newburgh, N. Y.

ICE CREAM PLANT

To Be Located in Kingston. It Is Said.

The Newburgh News says: Negotiations are under way by which the International Ice Cream Co. of Schenectady will establish a large iceing and distributing plant in Newburgh. It is probable that an investment of $20,000 or more will be made here.

It is probable that the company will erect a manufactory in Kingston. A. Walter Cutler, local representative of the company, has been striving to get this factory located in Newburgh and Kingston is regarded as a more strategic point and is likely to get the factory. The International is now selling great quantities of cream here.

Will Meet At Beaver Dam.

The Medical Society of the County of Ulster has accepted the invitation of their president, Dr. George F. Wilkins of Ellenville, and will hold their annual outing this summer at Beaver Dam. The outing will take place on Wednesday, July 20, the doctors, their wives and families being invited. Mr. Backmann will be dinner at 1:30 and those who have eaten one of Mrs. Backmann's good dinners will assure the members of the society that they may see perfectly good medicine in the quality of the food that await them.

Excursion to Point Schenectady.

The annual summer school of the New York State Educational Society will be held on the lawn of S. T. Train of upper Red Hook on Wednesday, August 17, 1921. This will be a one day excursion with basket picnic. A program is being arranged.

OBREGON DENIES RESCINDING TAX

By Telegram to The Freeman. Mexico City, July 15.—Reports in the United States yesterday that Mexico had rescinded the tax increase on petroleum exports were denied today by President Obregon.

"The government has not changed its policy upon the oil tax," said President Obregon.

REVOLT STARTS IN TAMPICO OIL FIELD

By Telegram to The Freeman. Mexico City, July 15.—Government officials declared today that they were not disturbed over the revolutionary uprising in the Tampico oil fields and that they expected it to be quelled in a short time.

Reports that soldiers under General Maguel Pelaez had joined the insurrection were officially confirmed by the war department.

Pelaez was in Mexico City when news came of the uprising. He had been conferring with President Obregon and General Estrada, the secretary of war, on conditions in the Tampico oil fields. He was placed under arrest, but protested that he was innocent of any connection with the rebel movement.

He said that when he left Tampico he left his troops in trustworthy hands.

General D. M. Herrera and General Alejandro Chao were reported to have joined the insurgents.

General Pelaez led an uprising in the Tampico district, during the administration of President Carranza.

It was reported that certain oil interests were interested in the revolutionary movement, but this was not confirmed.

General Estrada issued a statement reassuring the public. It was printed by the Mexico City newspapers.

More troops are being ordered into the Tampico and Tuxpan oil fields to protect the interests of the companies.

GETS STATE SCHOLARSHIP.

Kenneth Van Wynon of Kerhonkson Can Go to Cornell.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, July 15.—(Special)—Kenneth Van Wynon, Kerhonkson, Ulster county, has been awarded a state scholarship at Cornell University as the result of an examination conducted by the state education department on June 4, which was taken by hundreds of high school and academic pupils all over the state. Under the law each assembly district is entitled to at least one scholarship at Cornell. It carries with it full tuition and other perquisites which render the full course without expense to the winner of a scholarship.

Leo Turinsky, Glen Wild, Sullivan county, also won a Cornell scholarship.

Katrine a Popular Resort.

Even though the weather has been excessively hot it has not prevented a large attendance at the weekly dance held in Katrine Grange Hall each Friday evening. The refreshments served by the ladies of the Grange are appreciated by the many who like home-made cake, etc. The many summer camps and cottages in the vicinity are all leased and occupied now, and the population is therefore considerably increased during the heat of season. The camping facilities along the creek at this point are unexcelled and each year becoming more popular.

Drowned At New York.

Charles Peterson, formerly of the town of New Paltz, and a soldier in the World War in New York fell from a ferry boat on the Pennsylvania Company by which he was employed on Monday night and was drowned. Mr. Peterson was a brother of Arnold Peterson of New Paltz. He leaves a widow. In the World War he served in the 37th Division and was in action on the Hindenburg line.

McCasland a Director.

Arthur McCasland, former president of the Ulster County Society in the city of New York, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Journal of Commerce of New York city. Mr. McCasland is a former Kingstonian and is a member of the law firm of Parker, Marshall, Miller & Archibald.

Jap Tennis Stars Meet.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Honolulu, July 15.—Tennis stars Zensho Shimidzu and Ichiro Kumazawa, who will represent Japan in the Davis Cup competition, have started practicing at the West side tennis club. The Japanese stars will play in the Rhode Island tournament at Providence next week.

Northwestern Society Meeting.

The western summer meeting of the New York State Educational Society will be held on the lawn of S. T. Train of upper Red Hook on Wednesday, August 17, 1921. This will be a one day excursion with basket picnic. A program is being arranged.

PRICE ARRESTED FOR AUTO DEAL

Frank L. Price alias Franklin Fair, Harris Prosser and Harry Peir, was brought to the Ulster county jail Thursday afternoon by Sheriff Kolts and Jailer Robert Every from Schenectady, having gone by auto after him. Price was arrested at Schenectady by the police on a warrant issued by Police Justice Henry E. McKennie charging him with grand larceny in the first degree who turned him over to Sheriff Kolts. Patrick Baldwin of the town of Esopus is the complainant and it is alleged that he and Price had an automobile deal and that the latter turned over to him a car upon which there was a chattel mortgage. That the car was traded later by Baldwin with a Newburgh party and still later was replevined by the party who alleges he held the chattel mortgage. In the meantime Price had disappeared and finally was located at Schenectady where he was arrested and Sheriff Kolts notified. Price claims that the chattel mortgage had been satisfied but failed to have it cancelled of record. The man under arrest says he is an automobile salesman and dealer. According to a card on which there are two photo front views of him, it is stated that he had been arrested on March 16, 1921, at Daytona, Florida, on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree in stealing an auto and keeping the proceeds from sale. He was held for ten days and discharged because of insufficient evidence.

Will Join Volstead Experts.

It is stated that William R. Riskey of Albany, formerly of this city, will join the law firm being formed by Charles R. O'Connor and George L. Donnellan of New York city, which will specialize in cases arising under the Volstead Act. Mr. O'Connor, whose home is at Delhi, until recently was federal enforcement officer for the state of New York, in which position he has ample opportunity to become familiar with the stringent provisions of that act. There should be ample business for the new law firm in New York. Mr. Riskey is a graduate of Kingston Academy and after his admission to the bar was associated for some time with Judge John P. Grant at Stamford.

Robberies At Walden.

Thieves Wednesday night entered the Fairchild garage and stole $50 from the cash register, burglarized Seely's lumber yard office and Hornbeck's garage, all of Walden, where they also stole the Buick car of Earl H. Houghtaling which he bought Wednesday. Mr. Peck, who conducts the Newman chicken farm near Coldenham, placed some groceries in his Ford car on Main street Thursday forenoon. He returned to the car to find his groceries stolen as well as his coat containing his bank book and other papers. There is no clue as yet to the thieves.

Uncovered Garbage Cans Persist.

In spite of several warnings by citizens who live along the streets two garbage collectors were out again this morning collecting garbage in up-town street with uncovered cans. The stench of the passing wagons is far from pleasant these hot days and certainly is a menace to health. Action ought to be taken by the board of health and the authorities to prevent these collectors from violating the law which requires covered cans to be used in collecting garbage in the city.

Ramblers to Play E. Kingston.

Jack McMahon's fast Rambler A. C. of this city will journey to East Kingston on Sunday where they will clash with the team of that place. The game will start at 3 o'clock that afternoon. Chet Tierney and Dave Volker will do the honors for the East Kingston nine. Manager McNally, of the Ramblers, has had his men out practicing daily and they expect to return home with the scalp of the East Kingstonites.

JAPS HAVE HUGE AIR PROGRAM

Under Direction Of 30 British Experts They Are At Work On This Arm of Preparedness For War As Powerfully As In Navy And Army Upbuilding.

(While the rest of the world is on the verge of disarming, Japan is losing not a second in bolstering every branch of her armed preparedness. Duke N. Parry, staff correspondent of the International News Service in Tokio, has made a careful investigation of Japan's aviation program. Following is the first of a series of these stories on what he found):

By Duke N. Parry, International Staff Correspondent.

Copyright 1921 by International News Service.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Tokio, June 26. (By special courier to San Francisco)—Japan, if she should go to war with the United States within the next ten years, would employ against the American naval section, aviators whose original instruction was received from British naval aviation experts—experts who for the last several months have been arriving in Japan.

While disarmament talk in the United States runs high, while opponents of preparedness measures throughout the United States gain favor for their beliefs, Japan goes "feverishly on" with preparations. Her diplomats and statesmen, non-committally agreeing that disarmament is a measure in which lies much good, her officials in some cases stating that Japan will look with favor upon such a disarmament conference as has been suggested, the Imperial Japanese government, through its department of the navy is showing what will rank well along in the great national speed contests for preparation in building and in learning.

British former officers, former experts, and commercial designers, with mechanics, to the number of 59 positively, 74 possibly, have arrived in Japan in the last year. While not the representatives of the government of Great Britain, it is stated with authority, they have been chosen for the Japanese government by officials of the British government and this claim is borne out by the fact that all are men whose work for Great Britain would make them the ones who would most likely be chosen as those best able to instruct in naval aviation and construction. Japan announced informally in 1920 that the Imperial Japanese navy hoped to have seventeen divisions in naval aviation trained and ready for duty in 1923. Fifteen of these divisions were to be the flying divisions while two were to be training.

Great Britain's commercial men, who send their representatives to Japan to teach and build for the Japanese are breaking no international custom by so doing.

Called the "unofficial mission" of Great Britain to Japan, the present group of naval aviation men now in this country, is in no wise different from the military mission which trained the Japanese army and which came from France. The present group, which is headed by Lieutenant Colonel Meares, retired, of the British air forces, represents a business enterprise in Great Britain. Its members are finding employment in Japan far more lucrative than they could find in their own country; they are, if recommended by the British government, receiving some of the good post war treatment that is due experienced men, and they are yet in no wise the official representatives of Great Britain.

This does not lessen the fact, nor make less interesting to Americans the fact that if war is declared at any time within the next ten years, American naval aviation men would go up against Japanese aviators whose preliminary instruction was given by America's one time ally, Great Britain.

Japan, as far back as 1919, began to realize her weakness in a line of warfare which has only in the past decade come to be included in the service branches of the powers. Before that time, when the peace was being settled, Japan had to a degree, unnoticed, succeeded in getting planes allotted to her which are today being assembled and gone over by the rapidly improving Japanese aviation section. She ordered planes later from Great Britain and France given subsequently in this account show to what extent her people are being tutored today, that the branch of naval aviation may be built up.

S. SWITHIN'S DAY.

Rain Today Forecasts Forty Days of Moisture.

Today is St. Swithun's Day, and as it is said it means according to an old superstition that it will rain on each one of the next forty days. There have been rains, however, when the saint failed to live up to the good proverb attributed to him. Scattered all over this section are a large number of people who will be pleased if it will rain on a sufficient number of days to shatter the hot spell that has been so disagreeable for the past three weeks.

Shrine Erected At Widdowaters.

At Widdowaters, July 21, 22 and 23, will be held the Haystack Shrine of Nobles of the Middle Shrine in preparation to bring a host of people to that city and to be one of the big Shrine events held in the east in a long time.

PROGRAM NOT FOR U. S. TO MAKE

Jap Inquiry Received at Washington.—Scope Should Be Decided By Powers After They Get Together in Preliminary Negotiations, Think Administration.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, July 15.—Japan has asked the United States for a statement as to the scope of the proposed discussion of a Pacific and Far Eastern policy in the forthcoming disarmament conference, it was learned officially today.

State department officials refused to state whether this government has made reply to the Japanese communication but the impression prevailed that the state department has forwarded an answer.

The attitude of the United States with regard to the Japanese inquiry is that it is not for this nation to determine definitely the scope of the Far Eastern discussion, but that this is a matter to be decided by the powers concerned and participating in the conference. This government is of the opinion that there should be preliminary negotiations between the parties to the conference for an exchange of views as to the breadth of the discussion. It is understood that the viewpoint has been communicated to Japan.

The formal invitation of President Harding, it was pointed out, calls for a discussion of general principles of Far Eastern policy and does not indicate that this government has any intention of forcing the parties to consider definite problems, except as the conference itself desires to discuss these problems.

It was evident today that officials of this government do not feel that any nation can justly withhold its assent to join in the conference because of failure to set forth a definite program before the convening of the conference, and it is the hope of the administration that no nation will attempt to make its entrance into the conference conditional upon the preliminary formulation of a definite and precise program.

INVITATION BRINGS JAP QUESTIONS

She Wants to Know What Far East Problems Will Be Discussed—Britain Wants France and Italy Kept Out of Far East Meeting.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, July 15.—Japan wants to fully understand the scope of the proposed conference on Pacific and Far East problems before committing herself to either rejection or acceptance of President Harding's invitation, it was learned authoritatively today.

Inquiries to ascertain both the British and American viewpoints have been undertaken by Japanese statesmen. In the case of America, it was learned today, "certain questions have been propounded to Washington on behalf of the Japanese government," and until replies have been received, Japan will take no definite action.

Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, and Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador, have held a number of conferences on the proposals that have been made, and Curzon has been asked to make clear the British attitude.

It was also learned today that Great Britain is opposing the inclusion of France and Italy in the conference that will deal with the Pacific and Far East problems. The belief prevails among high British officials that the presence of France and Italy in the Pacific discussions will only lead to confusion, and that it would be better for all concerned if Great Britain, Japan and the United States are left alone to work out the policies of the Pacific and Far East, as they are the most interested parties.

KOBE STRIKERS TAKE 6-HOUR DAY

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, July 15.—The Japanese shipyard strikers at Kobe have established an industrial commission on which is operating the yards upon a six hour working day, said a Central News dispatch from Tokio today.

Leaders of the workers' council declare that they will produce results equally as good in six hours as they used to in eight.

Refined Dead Now Three.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Belfast, July 15.—The 17th to Ulster hostilities were suddenly broken today when three bodies were known to be dead but it is believed that the fatalities were greater than this as it is likely that bodies were severely crippled from the fighting areas.

Six Flowers Scattered.

Manchester, England, July 15.—Sixteen Sinn Féiners who had been deported from Ulster and Ireland were today sentenced to from three to fifteen years. A case in the court room made a demonstration in favor of the prisoners and the ga-jing were cleared.

CAN REVOKE AUTO LICENSES HERE

Judges Fowler and Schirick Also Hold That Power Under New Amendment Over Motor Cyclists Who Disregard Highway Laws.

The power to revoke or suspend the license of any automobile operator or chauffeur, or the certificate of registration of the owner of a motor vehicle, or the certificate of registration of a motor cycle, is vested both in City Judge Schirick and in County Judge Joseph M. Fowler under the provisions of Chapter 556 of the Laws of 1921. The new law became effective the first of July.

The new law is an amendment to the highway law, and the power mentioned is contained in two separate sections, known respectively as section 289-a, which refers to motor vehicles, and section 307-b, which refers to motor cycles.

Section 289-a provides that any magistrate in cities of the first, second and third class, or any county judge except where such judge is in a county wholly included within a city, shall have the power after a hearing to revoke or suspend the license of any operator or chauffeur, or in case of an owner the certificate of his motor vehicle, when such person shall have been guilty of such violation of the provisions of this article as shall in the judgment of said magistrate or county judge justify such revocation or suspension. Said magistrate or county judge shall order the license or certificate of registration delivered to the tax commission.

Authority to revoke or suspend the certificate of registration of a motor cycle, when the owner thereof shall have been guilty of such violation of the provisions of Article XI-A is contained in section 307-b of the highway law.

Both sections provide that the tax commission, in its discretion, may release to such person such license or certificate of registration after an investigation or upon a hearing.

In addition to the other powers and duties, the magistrate or county judge may also suspend or revoke any certificate of registration, or any license issued under the provisions of the law and may order such certificate or license, and in the case of a registration any number plates, to be delivered to the tax commission, for any of the following causes:

a. For a third or subsequent violation of the speed provisions of this article, or ordinance or regulation made by competent local authority, within one year.

b. For violation of subdivision 8 of section 282, subdivision 1 of section 286, subdivision 3 of section 289, and subdivision 7 of section 290 of the highway law.

c. Because of some physical or mental disability of the holder, or the disability of the holder by reason of intoxication or the use of drugs.

d. Because of the conviction of the holder at any time for a felony.

e. For habitual or persistent violation of any of the provisions of this article, or of the general highway traffic law, or of any lawful ordinance, rule or regulation made by local authorities in relation to traffic.

f. For gross negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle or operating a motor vehicle in a manner showing reckless disregard for life or property of others.

g. Knowingly permitting or suffering any motor vehicle under the direction or control of the holder to be used in aid or furtherance of the commission of any crime.

h. For preventing lawful identification of any motor vehicle under the holder's direction or control, or evading lawful arrest or prosecution while operating such motor vehicle.

i. For wilfully evading lawful prosecution in another state or jurisdiction for an offense committed therein against the motor vehicle or traffic laws thereof.

Whenever any license or certificate shall have been revoked or suspended, no new license or certificate shall be issued by the tax commission to such person until after thirty days from the date of such revocation, nor thereafter except in the discretion of the tax commission. Upon conviction of any operator or chauffeur of a motor vehicle or a violation of the article relating to such vehicles, the magistrate or other officer before whom the operator or chauffeur has been convicted, shall forthwith transmit to the tax commission a certificate stating in detail the conviction and the reasons for such conviction.

THE WORLD'S E. CONVENTION

Successful Religious Gathering held in New York—An Echo of the World's E. Convention being held in Fair Street Reformed

largest and most successful religious gathering of young people at any time.

The sessions were held at the 71st Regiment armory with over 700 meetings in the Marble Collegiate, Brick Presbyterian, Madison Avenue Baptist, First Moravian and many other churches.

In the course of the sessions six evangelistic teams, recruited from the young delegates, held noon meetings in the wide and varied sections of the city. The largest of these, upon the sub-treasury steps in Wall street, with the music led by Homer Rodeheaver and his trombone, with John McNeil and John Pollock speaking, drew thousands.

On Saturday afternoon the Endeavorers paraded up historic Fifth avenue, fifteen thousand in line, practically every marcher in costume with a series of more than a dozen floats picturing the principles of Christian Endeavor.

Pageantry and the colors of many lands marked practically every session. A separate Junior World's convention enrolled more than six hundred registrations in addition to the fourteen thousand registered delegates to the main convention. The kiddies conducted their own sessions, then presented a dramatic pageant in the armory.

The convention speakers included

William Jennings Bryan, Frederick A. Wallis, Fred B. Smith, A. E. Cory, Floyd W. Tompkins, S. D. Gordon, Robert E. Speer, Roger Rabson, Ira Landrich, Francis E. Clark and scores of others. At the Sunday evening decision service one hundred and five Endeavorers made definite declaration of intention to enter full time Christian service.

An informal echo meeting of the world's convention will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. All societies in the Kingston Local Union of C. E. are invited to join with the Second Reformed Society and all interested in C. E. Work are invited to attend.

NEXT STILLMAN HEARING JULY 28

By Telegraph to The Freeman
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 15—Adjournment of the referee's hearings in the Stillman divorce case this afternoon until July 28. Found counsel for Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman jubilant over the results of their three days' opening battle. H. Phelps Clawson of Buffalo, N. Y., long time friend of the Stillmans, was on the stand the greater part of today's session. Under vigorous grilling by Colonel William Rand, for James A. Stillman, the witness stuck to every particular of his story.

All of Col. Rand's spirited efforts to shake Clawson's testimony, especially with regard to the dates on which he was a guest of the Stillmans, broke down. The principal new point brought out was Clawson's testimony that he was present when Mrs. Stillman first met Fred Beauvais, half-breed Indian guide in Canada.

The hearing will be resumed July 28, 29 and 30, whereupon new adjournment will be taken until September.

Perilous "Sport"
What is the world's most dangerous sport? Mountain climbing takes many victims, but descending into the crater of volcanoes beats it. The present activity of Vesuvius calls attention to it. The descent must be made in fireproof clothes and gas mask. The air is full of stifling fumes and there is always the sporting chance that the volcano may start erupting. The floor of an active volcano is usually semi-liquid. Parts are solid enough to stand upon, others are liquid rock.

CAN REVOKE AUTO LICENSES HERE

Judges Fowler and Schirck Also Hold That Power Under New Amendment Over Motor Operators Who Disregard Highway Laws.

The power to revoke or suspend the license of any automobile operator or chauffeur, or the certificate of registration of the owner of a motor vehicle, or the certificate of registration of a motor cycle, is vested both in City Judge Schirck and in County Judge Joseph M. Fowler under the provisions of Chapter 588 of the Laws of 1921. The new law became effective the first of July.

The new law is an amendment to the highway law, and the power mentioned is contained in two separate sections, known respectively as section 289-a, which refers to motor vehicles, and section 287-b, which refers to motor cycles.

Section 289-a provides that any magistrate in cities of the first, second and third class, or any county judge except where such judge is in a county wholly included within a city, shall have the power after a hearing to revoke or suspend the license of any operator or chauffeur, or in case of an owner the certificate of his motor vehicle, when such person shall have been guilty of such violation of the provisions of this article as shall in the judgment of said magistrate or county judge justify such revocation or suspension. Said magistrate or county judge shall order the license or certificate of registration delivered to the tax commission.

Authority to revoke or suspend the certificate of registration of a motor cycle, when the owner thereof shall have been guilty of such violation of the provisions of Article XI-A is contained in section 287-b of the highway law.

Both sections provide that the tax commission, in its discretion, may refuse to issue such license or certificate of registration after an investigation or upon a hearing.

In addition to the other powers and duties, the magistrate or county judge may also suspend or revoke any certificate of registration, or any license issued under the provisions of the law and may order such certificate or license, and in the case of a registration any number plate, to be delivered to the tax commission, for any of the following causes:

a. For a third or subsequent violation of the speed provisions of this article, or ordinance or regulation made by competent local authority, within one year.

b. For violation of subdivision 8 of section 282, subdivision 1 of section 286, subdivision 3 of section 289, and subdivision 7 of section 290 of the highway law.

c. Because of some physical or mental disability of the holder, or the disability of the holder by reason of intoxication or the use of drugs.

d. Because of the conviction of the holder at any time for a felony.

e. For habitual or persistent violation of any of the provisions of this article, or of the general highway traffic law, or of any lawful ordinance, rule or regulation made by local authorities in relation to traffic.

f. For gross negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle or operating a motor vehicle in a manner showing reckless disregard for life or property of others.

g. Knowingly permitting or suffering any motor vehicle under the direction or control of the holder to be used in aid or furtherance of the commission of any crime.

h. For preventing lawful identification of any motor vehicle under the holder's direction or control, or evading lawful arrest or prosecution while operating such motor vehicle.

i. For wilfully evading lawful prosecution in another state or jurisdiction for an offense committed therein against the motor vehicle or traffic laws thereof.

Whenever any license or certificate shall have been revoked or suspended, no new license or certificate shall be issued by the tax commission to such person until after thirty days from the date of such revocation, nor thereafter except in the discretion of the tax commission. Upon conviction of any operator or chauffeur of a motor vehicle or a violation of the article relating to such vehicles, the magistrate or other officer before whom the operator or chauffeur has been convicted, shall forthwith transmit to the tax commission a certificate stating in detail the conviction and the reasons for such conviction.

SIXTH WORLD'S C. E. CONVENTION

Most Successful Religious Gathering
Closed in New York—An Echo
Meeting Will Be Held Sunday
Evening in Fair Street Reformed Church.

With the closing message of Dr.
Francis E. Clark, founder of the movement, the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention in New York has passed into history as the largest and most successful religious gathering of young people at any time.

The sessions were held at the 71st
Regiment armory with overflow
meetings in the Marble Collegiate,
Briek Presbyterian, Madison Avenue Baptist, First Moravian and many other churches.

In the course of the sessions
sixty evangelistic teams, recruited from the young delegates, held noon meetings in wide and varied sections of the city. The largest of these, upon the sub-treasury steps in Wall street, with the music led by Homer Rodeheaver and his trombone, with John McNeil and John

Pollock speaking, drew thousands.
On Saturday afternoon the Endeavorers paraded up historic Fifth avenue, fifteen thousand in line, practically every marcher in costume with a series of more than a dozen floats picturing the principles of Christian Endeavor.

Pageantry and the colors of many lands marked practically every session. A separate Junior World's convention enrolled more than six teen hundred registrations in addition to the fourteen thousand registered delegates to the main convention. The kiddies conducted their own sessions, then presented a dramatic pageant in the armory.

William Jennings Bryan, Frederick
A. Wallis, Fred B. Smith, A. E.
Cory, Floyd W. Tompkins, S. D.
Gordon, Robert E. Speer, Roger Rabson, Ira Landrith, Francis E. Clark and scores of others. At the Sunday evening decision service one hundred and five Endeavorers made definite declaration of intention to enter full time Christian service.

An informal echo meeting of the world's convention will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. All societies in the Kingston Local Union of C. E. are invited to join with the Second Reformed Society, and all interested in C. E. Work are invited to attend.

—Telegraph to The Freeman

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 15—Adjournment of the referee's hearings in the Stillman divorce case this afternoon until July 28, found counsel for Mrs. "Fid" Potter Stillman jubilant over the results of their three days' opening battle.
H. Phelps Clawson of Buffalo, N. Y., long time friend of the Stillmans, was on the stand the greater part of today's session. Under vigorous grilling by Colonel William Rand, for James A. Stillman, the witness stuck to every particular of his

All of Col. Rand's spirited efforts to shake Clawson's testimony, especially with regard to the dates on which he was a guest of the Still-mans, broke down. The principal new point brought out was Claw-son's testimony that he was present when Mrs. Stillman first met Fred Beauvais, half-breed Indian guide in Canada.

The hearing will be resumed July 28, 29 and 30, whereupon new ad-jourment will be taken until September.

Perilous "Sport"
What is the world's most dangerous sport? Mountain climbing takes many victims, but descending into the craters of volcanoes beats it. The present activity of Vesuvius calls attention to it. The descent must be made in fireproof clothes and gas mask. The air is full of stifling fumes and there is always the sporting chance that the volcano may start erupting. The floor of an active volcano is usually semi-liquid. Parts are solid enough to stand upon, others are liquid rock.

SIXTH WORLD'S C. E. CONVENTION

Most Successful Religious Gathering
Closed in New York—An Echo
Meeting Will Be Held Sunday
Evening in Fair Street Reformed Church.

With the closing message of Dr.
Francis E. Clark, founder of the movement, the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention in New York has passed into history as the largest and most successful religious gathering of young people at any time.

The sessions were held at the 71st
Regiment armory with overflow
meetings in the Marble Collegiate,
Drick Presbyterian, Madison Avenue
Baptist, First Moravian and many other churches.

In the course of the sessions
sixty evangelistic teams, recruited from the young delegates, held noon meetings in wide and varied sections of the city. The largest of these, upon the sub-treasury steps
in Wall street, with the music led by Homer Rodeheaver and his troupe, with John McNeil and John

Pollock speaking, drew thousands.
On Saturday afternoon the Endeavorers paraded up historic Fifth avenue, fifteen thousand in line,
practically every marcher in costume with a series of more than a
of Christian Endeavor.

Paganry and the colors of many lands marked practically every session. A separate Junior World's convention enrolled more than six teen hundred registrations in addition to the fourteen thousand registered delegates to the main convention. The kiddies conducted their own sessions, then presented a dramatic pageant in the armory.

William Jennings Bryan, Frederick
A. Wallis, Fred B. Smith, A. E.
Cory, Floyd W. Tompkins, S. D.
Gordon, Robert E. Spear, Roger Bab-
son, Ira Landrith, Francis E. Clark
and scores of others. At the Sunday evening decision service one hundred and five Endeavorers made definite declaration of intention to enter full time Christian service.
An informal echo meeting of the world's convention will be held at
the Fair Street Reformed Church on Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. All societies in the Kingston Local Union of C. E. are invited to join with the Second Reformed Society, and all interested in C. E. Work are

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 15, 1921.

TYRANNY—THEN AND NOW.

If any citizen of Kingston has not yet read the law adopted by the Kingston common council and approved by Mayor Canfield by which liberty of speech and assembly is turned over absolutely to the mayor, such citizen should turn to that column of tonight's Freeman wherein the ordinance is published. Let the ordinance be read with greatest care. This is the second publication of the ordinance as an official document in The Freeman. The second publication in the other official paper of the city will be made tomorrow morning, and the ordinance takes effect immediately after such publication.

It is appropriate at this time to reprint the following letter, written to the editor of the Pine Hill Sentinel about fifteen years ago by Herbert N. Casan, the celebrated author and speaker, soon after he became a summer resident of that village:

Editor Sentinel:—It is an interesting fact, especially to all residents of Ulster county, that the first demand for freedom and self government came from the farmers of Ulster. About 225 years ago the villagers of Esopus held a meeting and decided that they were intelligent enough to govern themselves. They accordingly appointed a committee to go to the British Governor at New York and ask him for a charter that would enable them to make their own laws.

The committee sailed down the Hudson and made the proposition to the Governor. He at once declared that they were guilty of treason and had them arrested and thrown into prison. Preparations were made to punish them and the whole village on a charge of riot.

The members of the committee had not expected such treatment, and after spending several days in prison they apologized to the Governor. They said that they had not known that their demand was a treasonable one, but considered it to be a reasonable and fair request. After a little delay the Governor set them free and they went back home to Esopus without a charter, but with a clearer knowledge of British tyranny than they had possessed before.

This was 100 years before the War of Independence. Self-government was an unknown thing in all parts of America. The will of the Governor was law. So far as I have been able to learn this was the first attempt to obtain independence ever made by any American community, and the fact is one which should not be forgotten by the residents of this county.

Can anyone fail to see the deadly parallel?

Wisconsin has passed a law prohibiting home brew. Strict enforcement would cause a vast expense as well as a great outcry, requiring the inspection of every home at least once a week.

The vigorous opposition to a bill before the Wisconsin legislature providing that the English language shall be used by election inspectors helps to explain that state's hard fight not to yield to pro-Germanism during the war.

THE FARCE GOES ON.

The acquittal of General Stenger by the Leipzig court makes of the trial of war criminals a greater farce than ever. General Stenger and Major Crusius of the 18th Baden Infantry were charged by the French government with ordering the troops under their command to take no prisoners and kill wounded men. It was proved even by German testimony that many wounded Frenchmen were murdered on the battlefield. Major Crusius himself testified that General Stenger gave such orders and that he passed them on. A dozen or more Alsatian soldiers of the German army testified to the work of Stenger's "murder squad." For example, Eugene Oberdorf, to whom the Kaiser awarded the Iron Cross, told of the murder of three French prisoners as follows: "They were on their knees crying for mercy. One of them said he was married. The sergeant did not want to shoot them, but he had to. He had direct orders from Stenger, who was standing by."

The evidence was overwhelming, but the court accepted Stenger's unsupported denial and acquitted him while sentencing the underlying Crusius to two years' imprisonment. The court is willing to visit light punishment upon a few subordinates, in order nominally to meet the demands of the Allies, but the men higher up, representing the majesty of the German army, are safe. Stenger was even applauded as he walked out of the court, while the representatives of the French government were hissed. Why should such a farce go on any longer? It can do no good, and only causes more bitter feeling than already exists. The Allies erred in not demanding the delivery of some of the worst criminals, just as they demanded the delivery of ships and guns in order that they might be tried by a non-German court and given their just deserts.

What do you want to know about nature subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?
1. Where do wasps and hornets spend the winter?
2. Why do members of the dog family love to roll on anything decayed? This habit is well known to trappers, who take advantage of it.
3. Do our early birds perish when caught in a late snow storm?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Do any male birds relieve the female mates during the incubation period?

Yes, among species where both parents share the duties of brooding are rose-breasted grosbeaks, doves, ostriches, bluebirds, gulls, and the beautiful cedarbird is said to do so sometimes.

2. Is moosewood a genuine name for a tree?

Yes, it is the commonly accepted name for the striped maple, Acer pennsylvanicum L. It is found in New England and adjacent parts of Canada, west to Wisconsin and Minnesota, particularly near mountain streams. The moose (and deer too) browse on it, the heavy animal easily standing astride of small specimens and forcing their upper branches within reach.

3. Why do the hop vine and the bean vine invariably climb in opposite curves?

It is safer to say "usually," since individual specimens are found twisting contrary to rule. Burroughs speaks in Ways of a Nature of finding occasional lima their sub-Equatorial origin. Limas beans that cannot climb and thinks them remotely influenced by their sub-Equatorial origin. Limas of South America twisting contrary to the habit of most northern climbing plants. Botanists believe gravity determines direction of twisting, because a plant rotated on a clinostat (a mechanism that neutralizes gravity) does not go on twining, but even this theory does not explain why some species are affected one way, and others differently, under natural conditions of gravity.

STREET CAR SAFETY

Suggestions of Writer include One Side Entrance and Egress.

Kingston, N. Y., July 11, 1921.

Editor, The Freeman:—I would suggest the following be published in your daily paper for the information of our city executives.

From my observation of safety laws in the various cities throughout the United States it is suggested that some scheme similar to the below be adopted by the City of Kingston to provide for their safety while getting on and off the street cars:

(a) That all passengers get on and off of the street car on the right hand side. (That is meaning the right side in direction car is travelling.)

(b) That street cars be permitted to stop for passengers only on the right hand corner and the front of car not to extend beyond corner curbing.

(c) That a rail be placed on the left hand side of car and that no passengers be allowed to stand on the running board on this side at any time and that they be allowed to stand on the right side only when all seats have been filled to capacity.

(d) That in places where traffic is liable to become congested while car is stopped a steel iron may be placed approximately two feet from car—allowing the vehicles to proceed on cautiously, otherwise it is necessary as a matter of safety that all vehicles stop until street car has discharged or taken on its passengers.

(e) It is suggested that the public use corners in crossing streets in some cities it is a violation of the law to cut across the street other than at a corner.

My Friend Bill,

I have the very best of friends

A man can ever boast.

He shelters me, supplies my coal

And buys my steak or roast;

He wraps me in an overcoat.

When winter winds are chill

And treats me to a good cigar—

This friend whose name is "Bill."

He gives me books and magazines

And tickets to the show.

And makes my balance at the bank

To fair proportions grow.

I'll never want for bed or board,

Or wherewithal to fill

My pipe, while I can clasp him

My friend, the "Dollar Bill."

WALTON'S SPECIAL COMMITTEE BUSY

Albany, July 15.—Preliminary plans for a revision of the general corporation law formulated in Albany yesterday by the legislative committee, headed by Senator Charles W. Walton of Kingston. Announcement of a public hearing to be held in the Capitol Wednesday, August 17, to obtain suggestions for proposed changes in the statute, was made.

Needed changes in procedure under the membership corporation law, stock corporation law, and business corporation law are expected to be suggested. The committee plan to pay particular attention to revision of the so-called non-par value section of the stock corporation law.

In addition to the chairman, other members of the committee are Senators George R. Fearon of Syracuse, Assemblymen Edmund B. Case of Broome, James G. Moore of Brooklyn, Republicans, and John J. O'Connor, Democrat, of New York. The committee has an appropriation of $10,000.

VIRGINIA LEGION MAN WINS

From Second Lieutenant to Major, Was Climb Made by Department Commander.

Entering the military service as a second lieutenant, Robert T. Barton, commander of the Virginia Department of the American Legion, rose to the rank of major during the World war.

Mr. Barton was born in Winchester, Va., and received his education at Shenandoah Valley Academy and the University of Virginia, where he took the B. S. and LL. B. degrees.

He practiced law from 1914 until 1916, when he went to the Mexican border as a second lieutenant in the Second Virginia Infantry. With the start of the World war, Mr. Barton attended the First Officers' Training camp at Fort Myer, Va., and received a captaincy. He served as a captain in the 313th field artillery at Camp Lee, Va., until he went to France in May, 1918. He participated in the St. Mihiel and Argonne-Meuse offensives and was promoted to a majority.

LEGION MAN IS LAWMAKER

Iowa Ex-Service Boys Are Proud of Their Most Youthful Member of Legislature.

"A fighting little devil and a captain I'd go plumb to hell for," is the way his sergeant characterized Clyde H. Doolittle, twenty-six-year-old American Legion member, the youngest lawmaker in the Iowa state legislature.

Mr. Doolittle was a law student at Iowa university when war was declared. He attended the First Officers' Training camp and went overseas with the 42nd Division. He participated in six major offensives and was wounded during the Champagne offensive.

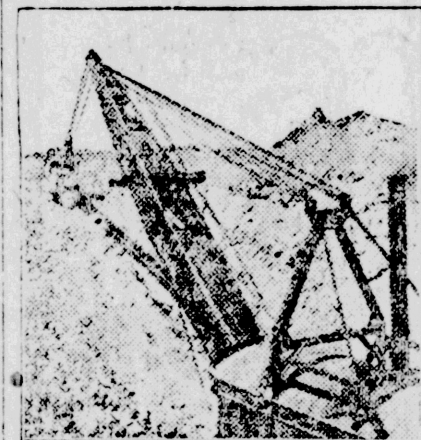

Re-entering college upon his return, Mr. Doolittle was elected to the legislature while away from his home. Wise in counsel, an eloquent speaker and a tireless worker for the American Legion, Mr. Doolittle soon placed every Iowa veteran in his debt and was largely responsible for the success of the Legion's legislative program.

UNION MEN LEGION MEMBERS

Kansas Coalfield Center of Hostility, Develops Into First-Prize Membership Locality.

From a center of hostility to the American Legion, to the town which won the first prize, second classification in the Kansas membership contest, is the record of Mulberry, in the coalfields of the Sunflower state.

During the period of the Kansas coal strikes, union laborers misconstrued the attitude of the Legion in regard to industrial disputes. When past officers explained the Legion's principles, the miners were quick to enroll in the ex-service men's organization. Legion men are operating the big steam shovel in the photograph.

Of a membership of sixty-six in Mulberry post, fifty are now union labor men. Forty-six are members of the United Mine Workers of America. The post also includes six merchants, three farmers, three clerks, two doctors and two school teachers.

MEMORY TREES TO SOLDIERS

Plan Proposed to Adorn American Highways Meets With General Approval Throughout Country.

To plant a tree along the great new American highways in honor of every United States soldier, sailor and marine in the World war, is a proposal which has met with the hearty support of the American Legion, G. A. R., Gold Star Mothers and other patriotic organizations. A permanent marker would be placed on each tree, bearing the name of one veteran and his organization, with no indication of rank. A separate inscription would be placed on the trees representing those who died.

Full success of the project means that the great Lincoln highway from New York to San Francisco and the Ohio highway from Chicago to Florida will be fringed with shade trees. President Harding has expressed his approval of the plan and the United States forestry bureau has promised its aid.

CAN REVOKE AUTO LICENSES HERE

Judge Fowler and Schirick Also Hold That Power Under New Amendment Over Motor Operator Who Disregard Highway Laws.

The power to revoke or suspend the license of any automobile operator or chauffeur, or the certificate of registration of the owner of a motor vehicle, or the certificate of registration of a motor cycle, is vested both in City Judge Schirick and in County Judge Joseph M. Fowler under the provisions of Chapter 586 of the Laws of 1921. The new law became effective the first of July.

The new law is an amendment to the highway law, and the power mentioned is contained in two separate sections, known respectively as section 289-a, which refers to motor vehicles, and section 287-b, which refers to motor cycles.

Section 289-a provides that any magistrate in cities of the first, second and third class, or any county judge except where such judge is in a county wholly included within a city, shall have the power after a hearing to revoke or suspend the license of any operator or chauffeur, or in case of an owner, the certificate of his motor vehicle, when such person shall have been guilty of such violation of the provisions of this article as shall in the judgment of said magistrate or county judge justify such revocation or suspension. Said magistrate or county judge shall order the license or certificate of registration delivered to the tax commission.

Authority to revoke or suspend the certificate of registration of a motor cycle, when the owner thereof shall have been guilty of such violation of the provisions of Article XI-A is contained in section 287-b of the highway law.

Both sections provide that the tax commission, in its discretion, may release to such person such license or certificate of registration after an investigation or upon a hearing.

In addition to the other powers and duties, the magistrate or county judge may also suspend or revoke any certificate of registration, or any license issued under the provisions of the law and may order such certificate or license, and in the case of a registration any number plates, to be delivered to the tax commission, for any of the following causes:

a. For a third or subsequent violation of the speed provisions of this article, or ordinance or regulation made by competent local authority, within one year.

b. For violation of subdivision 8 of section 282, subdivision 1 of section 286, subdivision 3 of section 289, and subdivision 7 of section 290 of the highway law.

c. Because of some physical or mental disability of the holder, or the disability of the holder by reason of intoxication or the use of drugs.

d. Because of the conviction of the holder at any time for a felony.

e. For habitual or persistent violation of any of the provisions of this article, or of the general highway traffic law, or of any lawful ordinance, rule or regulation made by local authorities in relation to traffic.

f. For gross negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle or operating a motor vehicle in a manner showing reckless disregard for life or property of others.

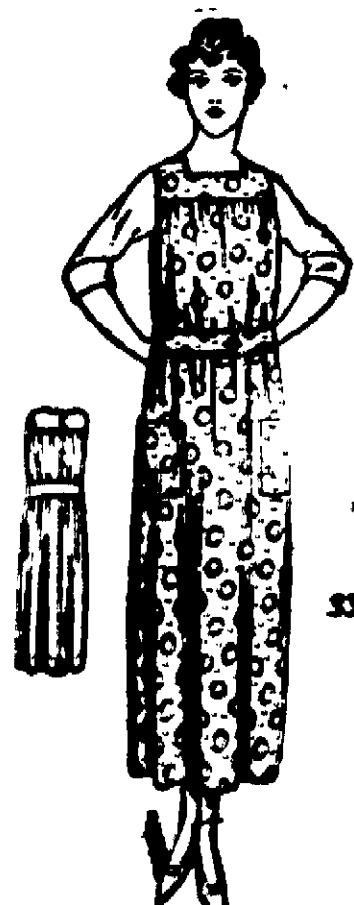

g. Knowingly permitting or suffering any motor vehicle under the direction or control of the holder to be used in aid or furtherance of the commission of any crime.

h. For preventing lawful identification of any motor vehicle under the holder's direction or control, or evading lawful arrest or prosecution while operating such motor vehicle.

i. For wilfully evading lawful prosecution in another state or jurisdiction for an offense committed therein against the motor vehicle or traffic laws thereof.

Whenever any license or certificate shall have been revoked or suspended, no new license or certificate shall be issued by the tax commission to such person until after thirty days from the date of such revocation, nor thereafter except in the discretion of the tax commission. Upon conviction of any operator or chauffeur of a motor vehicle or a violation of the article relating to such operator or chauffeur, or other officer before whom the operator or chauffeur has been convicted, shall forthwith transmit to the tax commission a certificate stating in detail the conviction and the reasons for such conviction.

See Us NOW about your Battery

Suppose some queer trick of fate made you the owner of this service station and me the customer.

And I came in some day red hot because my battery had gone wrong—

And I had missed my train—

And I lost out on an important engagement—

And disappointed a good customer—

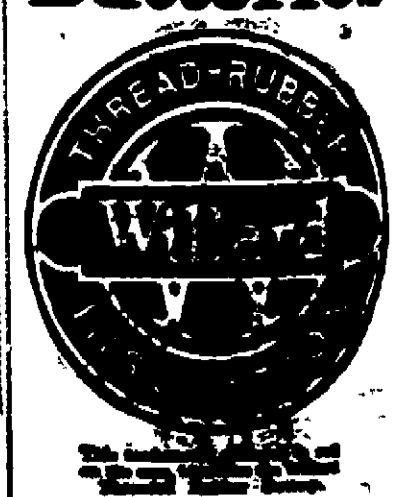

And stood to lose a lot of money—

You bet your life I'd be good and sore, but I'm mighty glad I couldn't ask for any more courtesy and consideration and square dealing and SERVICE than we are giving right now day after day.

STEEL ERECTION STARTS ON BRIDGE

Cable Wires Are Strung and Will Be Ready in Couple of Weeks to Hold Up Bridge as It Is Built Out From Either End and Attached by Suspenders.

At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon the last of the 3,552 3-16 inch galvanized steel wires was strung in place in the cables that will hold up the Rondout bridge. But that doesn't mean that the cable is finished, not by a long way. When the big wheel that has carried the wires across made its last trip the husky crew merely wiped the sweat off their brows and proceeded with the next step without any celebration of any kind.

Now comes the putting on of the bands that cover the multiplicity of wires, the "slushing" process, by which grease is introduced into all the spaces between the wires, the pressure of the whole into a final and compact form, the putting on of the "suspenders" which will as their names indicate suspend the load from the cables, and then the work proper, with the riveting after the cables have stretched to a normal position to accommodate the load. It is expected that when the load is fastened to them, the cables over the middle of the span will be about three feet lower than at present.

A good many tons of steel have already arrived and the several derricks at either end of the cables are busy putting them where they will be handled for erection. On the Kingston end erection has started on the approach and massive chords and laterals are being slung around in the cramped space with its sheds, cables, trees and timbers perched on the edge of the steep bank with a nice cooperation between the big man with the big voice whose hand gives the signals and the derrick operators over in their shed. Watching the work it is easy to realize how a second's carelessness or "dumb bell" work might make work for the undertaker.

So far the work has been free from serious accident but this is no guarantee that there won't be any. Among the men on this job are those who have been on jobs in all corners of the American continent and they know best of all that few big jobs are completed without one or more deaths. The Terry and Tench Company have been fortunate in this respect, however, in the past five years there have been but four fatalities of men in their employ on work of this kind. After all, it is generally the dare-devil youngster or some act in a spirit of bravado that results in injury.

At present there are about fifty men employed and this force will not be increased much until the erections have pinned and bolted the steel in place and the riveting starts. Then filling the valley with their noise, the heaters will take the red hot rivets out of their little portable forges, toss or drop them to the "bucker-up," who will hold them firmly while the "gun man" hammers them home, the bodies of both men being sent into a chattering vibration as the compressed air does its work. The holes are already in the steel so it is hardly likely the new device which shoots a rivet through the steel which was demonstrated the other day in New York will be used. The holes were all bored at the mills from templates and fit with marvelous nicety, each piece of steel having a mark on it telling where it belongs and each hole coming flush with the one through which first goes the erector's temporary pin, then, perhaps a bolt, and lastly a rivet, attaching the two pieces of steel.

After the suspenders are in place the steel construction will be begun from each end, the steel being attached to the suspenders as it reaches them, and when the bridge has settled to where it belongs and the stretch is out of the cables, the riveting will be done, the roadway laid and the bridge finished.

When? Well, the cables will be finished and the steel work started in earnest in about two weeks and the builders are aiming at November 1 as the date for the formal opening to traffic.

But as one perspiring workman stated today, "There's a helluva lot of work to be done yet."

Highway Improvement

REDUCING DAMAGE TO ROADS

Repair Bills Would Be Greatly Lessened by Placing More of Loads Over Front Axle.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Repair bills for damaged roads would be much reduced, engineers in the bureau of public roads report after extensive experimental work, if motor trucks were designed to carry more of the loads put on them over the front axle and less over the rear wheels, as at present. In the average heavy truck of today the body is nearly balanced on the rear axle. When the truck strikes an obstacle or an irregularity in the highway, the damage done to the road surface by the rear wheels is much greater than it would be if the load were distributed on both axles.

Given a perfectly smooth road surface, traveled by a truck with perfectly smooth circular tires, there would be no impact, regardless of the speed or weight of load. Since such an ideal condition is practically impossible, road engineers recognize that all factors which increase or reduce the impact of a load are of the utmost importance in planning highway construction and regulation.

The placing of the larger part of the load on the rear axle is only one of several factors which lead to high impact forces. In general, the increased speed of the truck will increase the impact, hence the necessity for keeping the operating speed within reasonable limits. Roads kept as smooth as possible by careful maintenance will reduce the possibility of trucks exerting impact and pressure forces upon the highway surface. Cushion or pneumatic tires also reduce impact and cause less damage to the highways than those of hard rubber, especially if the latter are not kept in good repair.

DRIVERS CAN IMPROVE ROADS

Wear to Surface Can Be Prevented by Driving Over Middle and Other Less Used Parts.

Drivers can prevent wear to the surfaces of the roads and even improve their condition if instead of driving in one track or on the edge of the road they will drive over the middle and other less used parts of the road when traffic permits. The one thing that is fatal above all things to road surfaces, whether dirt or paved, is driving in tracks, which subjects one small part of the road surface to all the traffic and damage that the whole road accommodates. Traffic should be evenly distributed over the entire surface of the road, and a little thoughtfulness and care in this respect on the part of drivers will do much to add to the permanence and excellence of our roadways.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR ROADS

Up to November 1, $72,744,000 Had Been Expended, and $121,322,198 More Allotted.

Discussing progress in road construction since enactment of the federal aid legislation four years ago, Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, reported that up to November 1, 3,190 miles of "first class" highway had been completed. As its share of the cost the federal government had expended $72,744,000 and allotted $121,322,198 more. Other results of national legislation, Mr. McDonald said, had been the establishment of state highway departments in five states and the reorganization of such departments in 20 other states.

Road Work in France

Road construction cost in France during pre-war years, $13,680 per mile, but has since then increased 250 to 300 per cent.

Badly-Worn Tires Prohibited

In Connecticut, the use of badly worn or partially destroyed tires on the highways is strictly forbidden.

Total Highway Mileage

Highway mileage in the United States, now totals 2,478,552 miles, or ten times the mileage of the railroads.

New Weapon for War on Rats

The exhaust of an automobile has been successfully used in driving away rats which resisted all previous efforts. The gas was turned into one of the rat holes and the rodents scampered out of others.

Efficient Reading.

The only way to read with any efficiency is to read so heartily that dinner time comes two hours before you expect it. To sit with your livy before you and hear the goose that saved the capital cackling, and to see with your own eyes the Carthaginian sutlers gathering up the rings of the Roman knights after the battle of Cannae and heaping them into bushels; and to be so intimately present at the actions of which you are reading that when anyone knocks at the door it will take you two or three seconds to determine whether you are in your study or on the plains of Lombardy looking at Hannibal's weather-beaten face—that is the only kind of study that is not tiresome, almost the only kind that is not useless.—Sydney Smith.

Safe Movers Fear Hoodoo.

Safe movers are the most superstitious persons, says a man who is in the business. Safe movers, because of their superstitious tendencies, have to be treated with great consideration—they're so sensitive, he says. If anything goes wrong they insist on taking a respite. A little matter like leaving a safe standing on the sidewalk overnight means nothing to them; they fear another accident will follow more serious than the first. Not long ago while a mover was "riding" a safe being lowered from the window of an office building the rope broke. Safe and man crashed to the street and the mover was killed. His companion movers quit work for ten days.

SIXTH WORLD'S C. E. CONVENTION

Most Successful Religious Gathering Closed in New York—An Echo Meeting Will Be Held Sunday Evening in Fair Street Reformed Church.

With the closing message of Dr. James E. Clark, founder of the movement, the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention in New York has passed into history as the largest and most successful religious gathering of young people at any time.

The sessions were held at the 71st Regiment armory with overflow meetings in the Marble Collegiate, Brick Presbyterian, Madison Avenue Baptist, First Moravian and many other churches.

In the course of the sessions sixty evangelistic teams, recruited from the young delegates, held noon meetings in wide and varied sections of the city. The largest of these, upon the sub-treasury steps in Wall street, with the music led by Homer Rodeheaver and his trombone, with John McNeil and John Pollock speaking, drew thousands.

On Saturday afternoon the Endeavorers paraded up historic Fifth avenue, fifteen thousand in line, practically every marcher in costume with a series of more than a dozen floats picturing the principles of Christian Endeavor.

Pageantry and the colors of many lands marked practically every session. A separate Junior World's convention enrolled more than sixteen hundred registrations in addition to the fourteen thousand registered delegates to the main convention. The kiddies conducted their own sessions, then presented a dramatic pageant in the armory.

The convention speakers included

William Jennings Bryan, Frederick A. Wallis, Fred B. Smith, A. E. Cory, Floyd W. Tompkins, S. D. Gordon, Robert E. Spear, Roger Babson, Ira Landrith, Francis E. Clark and scores of others. At the Sunday evening decision service one hundred and five Endeavorers made definite declaration of intention to enter full time Christian service.

An informal echo meeting of the world's convention will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. All societies in the Kingston Local Union of C. E. are invited to join with the Second Reformed Society, and all interested in C. E. Work are invited to attend.

NEXT STILLMAN HEARING JULY 28

Telephone to The Freeman

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 16—Adjournment of the referee's hearings in the Stillman divorce case this afternoon until July 28 found counsel for Mrs. "Pia" Potter Stillman jubilant over the results of their three days' opening battle.

H. Phelps Clawson of Buffalo, N. Y., long time friend of the Stillmans, was on the stand the greater part of today's session. Under vigorous grilling by Colonel William Rand, for James A. Stillman, the witness stuck to every particular of his story.

All of Col. Rand's spirited efforts to shake Clawson's testimony, especially with regard to the dates on which he was a guest of the Stillmans, broke down. The principal new point brought out was Clawson's testimony that he was present when Mrs. Stillman first met Fred Beauvais, half-breed Indian guide in Canada.

The hearing will be resumed July 28, 29 and 30, whereupon new ad-

Journalment will be taken until September.

Perilous "Sport"

What is the world's most dangerous sport? Mountain climbing takes many victims, but descending into the crater of volcanoes beats it. The present activity of Vesuvius calls attention to it. The descent must be made in fireproof clothes and gas mask. The air is full of stifling fumes and there is always the sporting chance that the volcano may start erupting. The floor of an active volcano is usually molten liquid. Parts are solid enough to stand upon, others are liquid rock.

ICE CREAM SODA
IS STILL HIGHAnd Sells For 17 Cents a Glass Here.
But in Albany There is a Campaign to Bring Back the 11 Cent Glass—What the Profit Is.

The ice cream soda fountain is doing a big business these warm days, and the seventeen cents a glass does not seem to make much difference in the number of glasses sold.

In Albany the soda parlors are also charging 17 cents a glass, but some of them have dropped the price to 11 cents, since a campaign to bring back the old price has been inaugurated there.

The Knickerbocker Press of that city says "with the maximum cost to dealers of only six cents for each ice cream soda served, several downtown dealers on Albany have started a movement to cut the price of soda from seventeen cents, a profit of more than 150 per cent, to eleven cents, a profit of nearly seventy per cent. On the seventeen cent soda there is a war tax of two cents and one cent on the eleven cent soda. "The movement has been attributed to agitation throughout the country aroused by the recent 'strike' of New York and Chicago children against the seventeen cent soda, which caused a reduction to eleven cents in most of the stores in those cities within the last few days."

The Knickerbocker Press further states that dealers in Albany buy ice cream for forty-two cents a quart wholesale. Approximately seventeen scoops such as are used in sodas may be obtained from a quart of ice cream. This brings the cost of the cream in the soda to about 24 cents. The syrups used cost about two cents in each soda. The overhead expense in the management of the store is about one-half a cent and the cost of a sanitary paper cup for the soda is about a quarter of a cent.

Allowing leeway for different business conditions and rent expense the cost of the soda in most instances does not even reach six cents and only rarely does it go beyond six cents.

As far as Kingston is concerned the majority of the stores still sell at 17 cents a glass.

BIG INDIAN.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

FARMYARD PARTY.

"In the farmyard," said Daddy, "there was a party yesterday, because the day was so hot. And that party was a swimming party, as you may be able to guess."

"We went on a swimming party, too, yesterday," said Nancy.

"And had swimming races," added Nick.

"Well, then," said Daddy, "you and some of the farmyard animals did much the same, though I suppose you swam differently from the way they did."

"Anyway, Sir David Duck was the one who got up the party."

"Quack, quack," he said, "this is mighty hot weather. I must do something about getting cool and I must invite the other animals to get cool, too, for I do not want to be selfish."

"Quack, quack, I do not want to be selfish."

"So Sir David Duck invited all the other animals to his swimming party."

"He asked the Cows, and the Cows said, 'Yes, Sir David, we'll go wading. We're not so strong for swimming as we are for wading. Moo, moo, that is the truth.'"

"He asked the hens, and the hens said, 'Cackle, cackle, we thank you just the same, but we cannot accept. Swimming parties aren't parties that we care for, though we are grateful to you for thinking of us.'"

"He asked the roosters, and they said, 'Cock-a-doodle-do. We can't be with you.'"

"He asked the chickens, and their mothers called out quite excitedly, 'The little dears cannot go. They are too young. But it is good of you to think of them.'"

"He asked Porky Pig and Pinky Pig and Sammy Sausage and Brother Bacon, but they all said, 'Grunt, grunt, squeal, squeal, we don't care to be clean, and we will become cool if we take a nap in some cool mud which we have in our yard.'"

"If there are going to be refreshments, though, we will come in time for them."

"Well, you'd better come around later, then," said Sir David, "for there is no telling whether we'll have refreshments or not."

"It's worth a little walk to find out," said the pigs.

"We will be on hand or rather on foot, or rather on all feet, in plenty of time. And we will do justice to your food, so you had better have some."

"He asked Sir William Goat, but Sir William Goat said, 'Sorry, old chap, but I have an engagement with a linen waist that is hanging down too far from the clothes line.'"

"Whatever do you mean?" asked Sir David Duck. "Whatever do you mean?"

"I mean I expect to have a little party of my own," said Sir William Goat. "But I thank you for your kind invitation. Another time, perhaps, I may be able to accept."

"Sir David then saw Dash the dog, and asked him if he would come to the party, and Dash said, 'By all means, Sir David. Thank you kindly, however, I'll come gladly. I'll try not to get in the way, but will swim about and not interfere with anyone.'"

"So glad you can come," said Sir David. "Quack, quack, I am so glad you can come," he said again, very politely.

"He asked Mrs. Indian Runner Duck, but she said, 'I'll try it for a bit but not for long. Sir David, I am grateful to you for the invitation, but I won't stay very long at the party. You know my family is different from yours in this way.'"

"He asked all of the other ducks then and there was the greatest noise after he had given his invitation ever you did hear!"

"Quack, quack, quack, quack, quack, quack, quack, quack, quack, quack," said all the ducks, why Sir David, we would be delighted to come."

"It is so good of you to give a party."

"And the swimming party was a huge success, if some of the animals had refused their invitations!"

"Cannot Accept."

"Anyways, Sir David Duck was the one who got up the party."

"Quack, quack," he said, "this is mighty hot weather. I must do something about getting cool and I must invite the other animals to get cool, too, for I do not want to be selfish."

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

When what to have for meat puzzles you try a stuffed beef heart or two or three calves' hearts. Let the heart soak in cold water and trim carefully. After standing two hours in the water, drain and wipe dry and stuff the heart or hearts with the following forcemeat: To one cupful of breadcrumbs add one tablespoonful each of chopped celery, onions and butter. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Sew up and place in a roasting pan with a good-sized piece of suet. Bake in a moderate oven for two hours if a beef heart, one-half hour if calves' hearts are used.

Denver Potatoes.—Peel several oval-shaped potatoes, cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out a small hole in the center of the smooth side. Put a lump of butter in each. Add salt and pepper and with a little water in the pan, bake in the oven until brown.

Peach Ice Cream.—Take one quart of ripe peaches, pare and mash them fine, then put through a sieve, sweeten very sweet, and to each quart of peach pulp add one quart of rich milk or thin cream, adding three blanched and pounded peach kernels.

Grape Juice Pie.—Take one cupful of grape juice, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, (less if the grape juice is sweet). Mix one tablespoonful each of flour and cornstarch with the sugar, add to the grape juice and cook until smooth. Add one tablespoonful of butter and pour into a baked crust. Cover with a meringue.

Asparagus Soup.—Take two cupfuls of asparagus tips, four cupfuls of chicken stock, one small onion, the yolks of three eggs, one-half cupful of heavy cream or evaporated milk, three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt, and pepper to taste. Cover the asparagus tips with cold water, add onion and simmer for eight minutes, rub through a sieve, reheat, add cream, eggs, seasonings and serve after straining.

Blackberry Pie No. 2.—Prepare and bake a rich pastry shell, fill with fresh, sugared berries, top with sweetened whipped cream and serve well chilled.

HAVE YOU SUMMER FROCKS ENOUGH TO BE ALWAYS DAIN-TY AND CHARMING?

COULD YOU USE A DAIN-TY ORGANDIE, A PRETTY GINGHAM, OR A REAL LINEN DRESS

YOU can have the dainty comfort of all three of them—for what you usually pay for one—and if you would make them yourself—and that is a "possible" possibility even for one who has never sewed.

For the New McCall "Printed" Patterns make the fashioning of clever, successful Frocks easy—they are Patterns with printed instructions (a new invention) not at all confusing and puzzling like the old-style Patterns!

Imagine a paper model that—put into cloth would make a frock with the smartness and chic of "line" that you admire in the ready-to-wear!

That, in a word, is what you may expect from the new McCall "Printed" Patterns—for the correct foundation of style and "line" is provided you by the expert dressmakers who make the Patterns, and all you have to do is to follow the printed instructions for putting parts together.

Anyone can make simple little Summer dresses—and have the joy of fresh, different ones for various occasions!

AT THIS STORE—THE DELIGHTFUL MATERIALS OF SUMMER—THE FRILLY TRIMMINGS—THAT HELP YOU TO SEW MORE SUCCESSFULLY!

of the German army, are safe. Stenger was even applauded as he walked out of the court, while the representatives of the French government were hissed. Why should such a farce go on any longer? It can do no good, and only causes more bitter feeling than already exists. The Allies erred in not demanding the delivery of some of the worst criminals, just as they demanded the delivery of ships and guns in order that they might be tried by a non-German court and given their just deserts.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

My Friend Bill,

I have the very best of friends. A man can ever boast. He shelters me, supplies my coal. And buys my steak or roast. He wraps me in an overcoat. When winter winds are chill. And treats me to a good cigar. This friend whose name is "Bill."

He gives me books and magazines. And tickets to the show. And makes my balance at the bank. To fair proportions grow. I'll never part with him or board. Or whereabout to all. My pipe, while I can clasp him close— My friend, the "Dollar Bill."

"I want to be excused," said the worried-looking jurymen, addressing the judge. "I owe a man $5 I borrowed, and as he is leaving town today for some years, I want to catch him before he gets on the train and pay him the money."

"You are excused," returned his honor, in ice tones. "I don't want anybody on the jury who can lie like that."

A man can always remember anything he wants to take home by wrapping up a pint flask inside of it.

A grin on the chin may let a man in. But a pout always lets him out.

The Wedding. Her hair was red, her eyes were blue. She was pigeon-toed, and knock-kneed, too. But I had no money, and I was broke. Hadn't a thing that I could soak— So we were married.

When You're Hired, That's Different. Husband and wife were at Keene's. During a love scene she nudged hubby and inquired, "Why is it you never made love to me like that?" "Say," he said, "do you know that that guy is paid for doing that?"

Putting the G in genius. You start with W and follow with O-R-K.

Dear Office Cat: Have you a good home brew recipe? AL COHALL.

Dear Al: No, but this one starts at a gallop. "Hop" on your motorcycle in a gallop, "yeast" or "yeast" or "yeast" stir up "intoxicating" breezes. "Bottle" up the energy thus acquired and "cap" the climax for use after "work."

TWO KILLED IN BELFAST BATTLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Belfast, July 15.—Order was restored here today after a new outbreak of violence in which two persons were killed and more than forty wounded. The military curfew order is being rigidly enforced. William Grant, a Unionist member of parliament, was shot through the breast during an outbreak of firing in the streets last night.

GREEKS TAKE IMPORTANT CITY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Athens, July 15.—Greek troops in Anatolia have occupied the important city of Afium-Karabissar on the Bagdad railway, said a despatch from Smyrna today quoting an official announcement from the Greek general staff.

BOYS MUST SWIM

This Weather Even if They Break Break Law, Decides Judge.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 15.—It is no crime to go swimming these days—even if the crime of breaking and entering has to be perpetrated in order to do it. Such was the decision today of Justice Hoyt in discharging fifteen boys for breaking into a public school building to swim in the pool.

"If pools are ever open they should be open these hot days," said the court, as it mopped its judicial brow.

OIL DUTY NOT YET OUT OF TARIFF

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—With general debate ended, the house today took up the task of amending the Fordney tariff bill. The row has been given to the ways and means committee, which has a large number of amendments to offer.

An amendment fixing a 15 per cent duty on hides is one of the changes, which it is predicted will be forced, accompanied by compensatory duties on leather manufacturer on boots and on shoes.

Hides are on the free list of the Fordney tariff bill now. The agricultural group of the house, however, have outlined a fight to have a duty placed on hides. Indications today are that they have mustered sufficient strength to vote the duty into the bill.

The cotton men who are demanding a duty on long staple cotton do not seem to have made the same headway that was made by the hide duty advocates, and the chances are they will fail in their efforts to take cotton from the free list and place it under a duty.

Chief interest centers today in the fight for and against a duty on crude and fuel oil. At the last moment this duty was added to the Fordney bill, oil being taken from the free list. Both sides are fighting desperately and the recent protest of President Harding against a duty on oil as likely to interfere with commercial negotiations with Mexico is being used with effect against those urging the retention of the proposed duties.

SENATE DEBATES SOLDIER BONUS

Vote on Motion to Re-commit Delayed by Efforts of Harrison and Kenyon to Instruct Committee.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—The soldier bonus bill will be sent back to the senate finance committee today in compliance with the president's request that the senate defer action on it, Republican leaders predicted.

Although the hour for final consideration of the Penrose motion to re-commit the bill was fixed by unanimous consent at 3 o'clock this afternoon the vote on it was delayed by efforts of both Republicans and Democratic senators to bind the committee with instructions.

Senator Kenyon, (R.) of Iowa, has an amendment pending which would instruct the committee to rewrite the bill and report it back to the senate not later than January 1, 1922.

The amendment is not acceptable to Senator Pat Harrison and other Democratic senators opposing the Penrose motion. They intend to offer an amendment of their own which would force earlier committee action on the bill.

All efforts to instruct the committee will probably be voted down. Debate and action on proposed instructions are likely to delay the vote on the motion itself until late in the afternoon.

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, at whose request a special senatorial committee is now investigating the alleged neglect of sick and maimed ex-service men, attacked the Penrose motion when the senate reconvened.

Walsh urged that congress "owe the country's fighting men a debt of honor which ought to be paid."

House Republican leaders, with the possible exception of Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee will follow the recommendation of President Harding that adjusted compensation for the soldiers be deferred until the treasury is in better shape to stand the strain.

The facts of the situation are these," said Republican Leader Mondell today.

"The house is bending all its energies and devoting all its time to the enactment of tariff and tax revenue legislation. When this work shall have been completed the house will take a recess for rest. It is entitled to a rest."

Leader Mondell said that Fordney still favored a soldier cash bonus. Before there can be such legislation there will have to be hearings on the subject before the ways and means committee, as Fordney has indicated. Mondell does not think such hearings would be held or concluded during the present session of congress.

GET PRIME TENDER MEATS AT LAY'S BIG SAT'DAY SALE

Our Lamb, Pork, Beef and Veal are choice enough to make you feel contented after every meal; but there is something better in market-keeping than the selling of great quantities of meats. To sell the "BEST QUALITY" that can be bought for the price paid is the goal at which we have been driving. If we can do that well enough, we are satisfied to let the public determine the quantity of meats we shall sell. Two other points we follow in our service are "PRICE" and "SERVICE." We want you to convince yourself Saturday that these principles prevail at this market.

SILLY TO ARGUE!

Of Course "Married Men Are the Nicest."

Marjorie Puts It Plainly, Though Perhaps There Are Some of Us May Not Understand.

"Married men are nicest!" But are they, really? Well, I don't know, but I'd like to think so. Anyhow, I've heard the phrase trip more than once from pretty lips, and there is no doubt that the speakers were in earnest. Sometimes it has been varied thus: "All the nicest men are married." Now, a man when he stumbles away from the altar may feel small and humble enough; but the fact that he has squeaked out an "I do!" and has clumsily placed a plain gold ring onto a woman's finger does not mean that he has shed his masculine vanity and his childish delight in compliments. Looking at the thing frankly, writes W. Harold Thomson in the continental edition of the London Mail, I fail to see how there can be any rule about it. After all, every married man was once a bachelor.

But our charming critics don't seem to think about that. They just say "Married men are nicest."

It's all very gratifying and very confusing.

I asked Marjorie about it the other day. "Marjorie," I said, "you have put your hair up now and you talk as one having authority and not as the scribes. I want you to tell me why you say that married men are nicest?"

She put her head to one side and swallowed the second half of what she thought was a liqueur chocolate. "I don't know," she said, "but it's true. They're kinder than bachelors and more understanding. They talk to a woman as though they were neither afraid of her nor—nor contemptuous of her. They're—sort of experienced about us. I suppose that's it."

"My child," I said, "don't you realize that when you marry you will choose a bachelor to be your husband?"

"Yes," she admitted, and nodded at me, "but I'll be in a most desperate hurry to make him into a married man. He'll be ever so much improved when he's my husband."

"Now look here," I said very patiently, "you want to face this calmly. If you had lived as long as I and knew as many wedded couples you'd realize that almost every wife knows that the ideal husband is either some bachelor or is married to some one else?"

"Is that clever?" Marjorie asked. "It may be," I answered. "The point is—she's true!"

She was rummaging about in the chocolate box. "It isn't the point at all," she told me. "The point is that the nicest men get married. They can't help it. They are the kind who fall in love and make women fall in love with them. Therefore they are the dears."

"Look here," I said, "this won't do. We're getting out of our depth. I want you to understand that a married man must start by being a bachelor, and therefore—"

She pushed the chocolate across. "Oh, don't let's argue," she said. "It's no use, anyway. Married men are the nicest."

I took a chocolate.

Now a Weedless Lawn. A long sought fertilizer has at last been secured, after twenty years of research, which will slowly and surely exterminate the weeds, while permitting the grass to grow freely. Ammonium sulphate is found to be more advantageous than sodium nitrate, which tends to create an alkaline condition of the soil, especially favorable to the propagation of weeds. Ammonium sulphate produces reversed conditions and the grass flourishes and the weeds are so weakened that they are crowded out. Of course, this plan of fertilization must be qualified, as only grass that is an acid tolerant would develop along the line of extermination of the weeds. The weeds to resist must be non-acid tolerant also—Scientific American.

Her Position. Little Esther was sometimes permitted to talk on the phone with mother's help, and one morning when she had been left alone for a few minutes she decided to call up her grandmother.

She climbed carefully onto a chair, and from there onto the sewing machine, which stood near by. She took down the receiver, but when the operator called, "Number please," she could think of nothing to say.

"Get off the line, please," called the operator, as no one answered. "I'm not on the line," piped up a small voice. "I'm on my mamma's sewing machine."

Not Now.

The sweet young thing had been unable to buy the article she wanted, but in each case the clerk had assured her that "next time" it would assuredly be in stock. One day she called at the store to find a new clerk on the job.

"Do you have spats yet?" she inquired. The clerk blushed. "No, ma'am," he stammered. "I'm not living with my wife now."

Macaulay Silenced Critics.

Macaulay was a victim to the habit of reading in bed. When going the northern circuit as a newly fledged barrister, an old king's counsel staying in the same hotel with him noticed that Macaulay carefully picked out the longest candle as the members of the mess were retiring for the night. "He reprobated with him," says Sir George Trevelyan, "on the danger of reading in bed, upon which Macaulay replied with immense rapidity of utterance: 'I always read in bed at home; and if I am not afraid of committing perjury and matricide, I can hardly be expected to pay any special regard to the lives of the bagmen of Leeds.' And, so saying, he left his hearers staring at one another, and marched off to his room."

Delicacies That Do Not Travel.

Least appreciated, relatively to their gastronomical merits, are the soft-shelled turtles, native of the large streams and lakes. They are hardly inferior to the diamond back terrapin, but are seldom seen in the markets for two reasons—because they do not ship well and because local demand, where they are caught, uses up the supply. They are home-consumption delicacies, like the honey banana, the emerald-gem muskmelon and the fall pippin apple—too good for the ordinary market and sure to lose their original flavor in passing through the hands of the middleman.

WALTON'S SPECIAL COMMITTEE BUSY

From Second Lieutenant to Major, Was Climbed by Department Commander.

Entering the military service as a second lieutenant, Robert T. Barton, commander of the Virginia department of the American Legion, rose to the rank of major during the World war.

Mr. Barton was born in Winchester, Va., and received his education at Shenandoah Valley Academy and the University of Virginia, where he took the B. S. and LL. B. degrees.

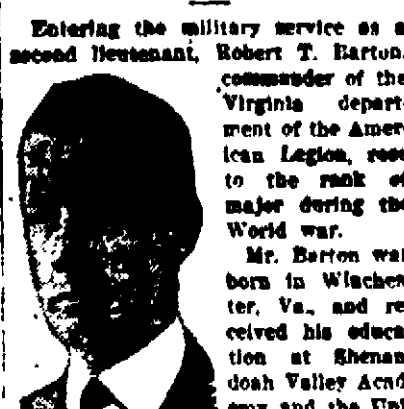

He practiced law from 1914 until 1916, when he went to the Mexican border as a second lieutenant in the Second Virginia Infantry. With the start of the World war, Mr. Barton attended the First Officers' Training camp at Fort Myer, Va., and received a captaincy. He served as a captain in the 318th field artillery at Camp Lee, Va., until he went to France in May, 1918. He participated in the St. Mihiel and Argonne-Meuse offensives and was promoted to a majority.

Need changes in procedure under the membership corporation law, stock corporation law, and business corporation law are expected to be suggested. The committee plan to pay particular attention to revision of the so-called non-par value section of the stock corporation law.

In addition to the chairman, other members of the committee are Senators George R. Fearon of Syracuse, Assemblymen Edmund B. Jones of Broome, James G. Moore of Brooklyn, Republicans, and John J. O'Connor, Democrat, of New York. The committee has an appropriation of $10,000.

VIRGINIA LEGION MAN WINS

LEGION MAN IS LAWMAKER

Iowa Ex-Service Boys Are Proud of Their Most-Youthful Member of Legislature.

"A fightin' little devil and a captain I'd go plumb to hell for," is the way his sergeant characterized Clyde E. Doolittle, twenty-six-year-old American Legion member, the youngest lawmaker in the Iowa state legislature.

Mr. Doolittle was a law student at Iowa university when war was declared. He attended the First Officers' Training camp and went overseas with the 42nd Division. He participated in six major offensives and was wounded during the Champagne defensive.

Re-entering college upon his return, Mr. Doolittle was elected to the legislature while away from his home. Wise in counsel, an eloquent speaker and a tireless worker for the American Legion, Mr. Doolittle soon placed every Iowa veteran in his debt and was largely responsible for the success of the Legion's legislative program.

UNION MEN LEGION MEMBERS

Kansas Coalfield Center of Hostility, Develops Into First-Prize Membership Locality.

From a center of hostility to the American Legion, to the town which won the first prize, second classification in the Kansas membership contest, is the record of Mulberry, in the coalfields of the Sunflower state.

During the period of the Kansas coal strikes, union laborers misconstrued the attitude of the Legion in regard to industrial disputes. When next officers explained the Legion's principles the miners were quick to enroll in the ex-service men's organization. Legion men are operating the big steam shovel in the photograph.

Of a membership of sixty-six in Mulberry post, fifty are now union men. Forty-six are members of the United Mine Workers of America. The post also includes six merchants, three farmers, three clerks, two doctors and two school teachers.

MEMORY TREES TO SOLDIERS

Plan Proposed to Adorn American Highways Meets With General Approval Throughout Country.

To plant a tree along the great new American highways in honor of every United States soldier, sailor and marine in the World war, is a proposal which has met with the hearty support of the American Legion, G. A. R., Old Star Mothers and other patriotic organizations. A permanent marker would be placed on each tree, bearing the name of one veteran and his organization, with the indication of rank. A separate inscription would be placed on the trees representing those who died.

Full success of the project means that the great American highway from New York to San Francisco and the Pacific highway from Chicago to Florida will be fringed with shade trees. One don't Harding has expressed his approval of the plan and the United States forestry bureau has promised its aid.

AIM FOR HEALTH AND VIGOR

Are Fairly Reliable Guide for Selection.

Only by continuous selection for health and vigor is it possible to build up a flock that will produce fertile eggs, strong chicks capable of making quick growth, and pullets with sufficient stamina to withstand the strain of heavy egg production. The appearance of a bird is not always a sure indication of its vigor, but appearance and action taken together are a fairly reliable guide for picking out vigorous birds, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The comb, face, and wattles should have a good, bright color; the eyes should be bright and fairly prominent, and the head should be comparatively broad and short, having a fairly short, well-curved beak and showing no tendency to be long "snaky" or "crow-headed."

The bird should be alert and have a strong, vigorous carriage; the legs

Single Comb White Leghorn Cockerel
—One of Foundation Birds Used at Government Poultry Farm, Belts-
ville, Md.

should be set well apart and strongly support the body, giving no indication of weakness or a knock-kneed condition. The bone, as seen in the shank, should be strong and not too fine for the breed, while the toes should be strong, straight, and not too long. The plumage should be clean and smooth, as a lack of condition often accompanies soiled, roughened plumage. The condition of flesh should be good, as a very thin bird is usually in poor health. Sick fowls, or fowls that have apparently recovered from sickness, should never be used for breeding if it can be avoided.

FEEDS FOR GROWING CHICKS

In Addition to Grains Growth of Young Fowl Can Be Hastened by Supplying Milk.

As soon as chickens will eat whole wheat, cracked corn, and other grains, the small-sized chick feed can be eliminated. In addition to the above feeds the chickens' growth can be hastened if they are given sour milk, skim milk, or buttermilk to drink.

Growing chickens kept on a good range may be given all their feed in a hopper, mixing two parts by weight of cracked corn with one part of wheat, or equal parts of cracked corn, wheat and oats in one hopper, and the dry mash in another. The beef scrap may be left out of the dry mash and fed in a separate hopper, so that the chickens can eat all of this feed they desire. If the beef scrap is to be fed separately it is advisable to wait until the chicks are 10 days old, the poultry division of the United States Department of Agriculture advises, although many poultrymen put the beef scrap before the young chickens at the start without bad results.

Chickens confined to small yards should always be supplied with green feed. Fine charcoal, grit and oyster shell should be kept before the chickens at all times, and cracked or ground bone may be fed where the chickens are kept in small, bare yards, but the latter feed is not necessary for chickens that have a good range.

The following table, compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture, shows that the losses of fertile eggs are computed to be nearly twice as great as of infertile eggs:

	Fertile Eggs	Infertile Eggs
On the farm.....	29.4	15.5
At country store.....	7.1	4.0
Transportation to pack- ing house.....	6.4	4.7
Total.....	42.9	24.2

LOCATION FOR BROOD COOPS

Should Be Placed on Spot Where
Grass Is Green and Tender and Removed Frequently.

Brood coops with runs should be placed on ground where the grass is green and tender, and, as fast as it is eaten off, the coop and run should be moved to a place where the grass is plentiful, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

How to Avoid Colds.

Before you leave a warm room and open the street door to go out, always remember to shut your mouth. Keep it closed until you have walked briskly for about ten minutes. Then, if you keep on walking, you may talk as much as you please.

If you keep your mouth closed and walk briskly, the air can only reach the lungs by a circuit of the nose and head, and become warm before reaching them, thus causing no derangement of these very important organs. On the other hand, large draughts of cold air dash directly in upon the lungs, and in a few days you wonder how you caught that awful cold.

Increase Sea Safety.

Lifeboat davits, described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine, are so designed that one man, by turning a crank, can lower a boat with ease. They are now being installed on a number of ocean liners, greatly increasing the potential safety of sea travel as well as the comfort of passengers. If use of the boats becomes necessary, the one crank operates both the outward swing of the davit and the falls. Because of the improvement in ease of lowering, larger lifeboats can be used, with more comfortable storage space for fresh water and provisions.

A Would-Be Auditor.

Well, what did you think of my acting? asked an amateur player of a truthful but diplomatic member of the audience.

"I can say this," replied the spectator frankly, "I have a friend who I am confident would have given $500 to have heard you."

"Who is it?" asked the embryo Booth, highly pleased.

"Well, you wouldn't know him. But he's deaf as a post."—American Legion Weekly.

Senegal and Its People

Mountaineers of Senegal.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Senegal, brought into prominence because of the thousands of Senegalese who, as soldiers and laborers, assisted the French in the World War, is the gateway and main trade route to France's West African possessions.

In that country and in the regions inland to the east, Mohammedanism holds almost undisputed sway; and from there, some observers declare, there is likelihood that this religion will sweep southward until the great majority of African natives will become Moslems in name at least.

On its west, or Atlantic coast, Senegal may be said to mark the beginning of the real Africa—the hot, moist "dark continent" peopled with negroes. For northern Africa is to a large extent desert, and is the land of Arab and Berber, or "Moors." As one steams down the Atlantic coast of Africa, leaving the last of the perennial streams of Morocco, he skirts a forbidding desert coast without a permanent stream for 1,800 miles. The first large stream encountered is the Senegal, emptying into the sea through a system of lakes and lagoons, navigable during the rainy season for 600 miles inland. This was naturally one of the best trade routes into the interior of northwestern Africa, and by the construction of a railroad from the river's rapids to a point 455 miles farther inland, it has been made still better.

Real Control by France Is Recent.

The foothold of France in Senegal dates from the days of Richelieu. In 1639 Fort St. Louis was established as a trading post at the mouth of the Senegal river. France could point to little more than the maintenance of coast stations in this region, however, until relatively recent times. It was not until near the middle of the Nineteenth century that there was anything like an aggressive effort to consolidate Senegal under French control. How great the progress has been since that time is indicated by the fact that there are now four self-governing municipal communes in Senegal, and they jointly send a deputy to the French chamber in Paris.

The portion of Senegal which may be regarded as having progressed far toward becoming, like Algeria, a part of France, is small, embracing less than 1,000 square miles and having a population of only a few hundred thousands. The remainder of Senegal, with an area of more than 70,000 square miles, consists of native states under French protection and under the supervision of resident agents.

Situated between desert Africa and moist tropical Africa, Senegal is not unnaturally a region of mixed races. As one advances from the north, the Senegal river marks the first encounter with predominantly negro tribes, as it marks the end of the desert and its fringe of semi-desert. On the north side of the river dwell people of Berber or "Moors" stock—swarthy, straight-haired, straight-nosed. To the south of the river the tribes vary much in appearance, but practically all are negroes—black or dark chocolate colored, with broad flat noses and kinky hair. Close to the coast are the members of the Wolof tribe, who are usually regarded as typically Senegalese. They are said to be the blackest negroes known. Even their lips are black. The people of this tribe are particularly loyal to the French and have served in large numbers as soldiers.

French administrators have earned the gratitude of the large and influential trading class in Africa by breaking up brigandage and policing the caravan routes. The Moslems are all grateful because of the French policy, which has insured privacy to the mosques and harems and has permitted them to continue their schools and colleges, and in some cases has even subsidized such institutions.

But though France has permitted Moslem schools to be carried on, she has not left all schooling to the Mohammedans. Public schools have been established in Senegal and elsewhere in the West African possessions, in which children of the various races, tribes and religions are taught in French. At present these schools reach only a few thousand children in Senegal, but the system is being extended as rapidly as possible.

Excellent roads have been built by the French in Senegal, connecting the various towns and supplementing the river and rail routes to the sea coast. Dakar, which is situated under the delta of Cape Verde, the westernmost point of land in Africa, is the best port on the whole west coast, and almost the only port on that coast at which ocean-going vessels can tie up along side a quay protected from the surf.

As a result, the commerce of the port is heavy, and the trade route to the east starting there is used to distribute and collect supplies to and from extensive regions in the interior. Dakar is the seat of administration for all French West Africa and has a larger European population (about 3,000) than any other town in Senegal or the neighboring countries.

Senegal is not a "white man's country." Because of its climatic conditions it is unhealthful for Europeans and probably always will be. The French recognize this and have made no efforts to colonize the country. The European population is made up almost entirely of administrators of various kinds, and traders. This situation has made necessary the French plan of organizing the country largely on the basis of native states under protection.

Although cattle-raising on the grassy plains of the upper Senegal has long been the chief industry, agriculture has attained a place of greater importance in recent years. The principal article of export is the peanut, and considerable amounts of other oil seeds, oils, hides, rubber, timber and cocoa also are sent out. Senegal ships large quantities of kola or cola nuts. These are eaten by the natives throughout western Africa, and even in the more remote parts of the continent, because of their stimulating qualities.

Cotton grows wild and its production might be made into an important Senegalese industry but for the habits of the natives. They are unwilling to engage in the cultivation of a crop which requires considerable steady work and a relatively long wait for maturity. They prefer to raise such crops as peanuts and millet which require little attention between planting and harvest.

QUICK CHANGES IN PARIS MODES

Extreme Novelties Are Suddenly Produced for Purpose of Making Sensation.

CHIEF AIM IS BECOMINGNESS

Women of Refined Taste and Social Position Demand Dresses That Are Free From Undue Eccentricity.

At recent race meetings in the Bois de Boulogne, writes a Paris fashion correspondent, we have had an excellent opportunity of reviewing present-day fashions; indeed it would be more correct to say "present-hour," because at this season of the year fashions change very frequently. Extreme novelties are suddenly produced for the purpose of making a sensation—and a good advertisement for some particular dressmaker.

As frequently pointed out, the general outline remains graceful and simple; that is to say, the dresses worn by our more exclusive Parisiennes, also by American women of refined taste and assured social position, are perfection itself, free from undue eccentricity and essentially becoming.

But then we have other and widely different fashions which are freely exploited by daring young actresses and by women who like to find themselves the center of a wondering crowd. These remarkable costumes are also created to please a certain type of American buyer who insistently demands "something quite new and sensational."

At the races one realizes that longer skirts have really become popular. The Parisiennes have been slow to consent to the added inches; in New York the dresses were ankle length, when over here in France, the majority of women wore dresses that cut the lower limbs half way between knee and ankle. Even now there are many very smart Parisiennes who actively object to long walking dresses. My personal opinion is that the latest models by Paul Poiret have had much to do with this fight against the added inches.

Models Long and Full. At the beginning of the season Poiret launched models which were at one and the same time long and full. Women quickly realized that this outline, though quaint and picturesque, was not generally becoming; it called for a special type of woman and it rarely suited young girls.

Perhaps this was why so many of our best dressmakers—the real auto-crats of the rue de la Paix—have decided to retain the beautiful straight outlines of last year while adding width, actually, to the hem of the skirt. The reason is not easy to discover, but the fact remains.

Paquin, Worth, Doucet, Doenillet and others are showing lovely models which resemble those of yesterday, but which have much more material pressed into their composition.

At the fashionable race meetings one sees the most wonderful hats and toques. Quite amazing arrangements of paradise plumes, uncured ostrich feathers and aigrettes—the latter as a rule artificial and cleverly made of fine horse hair. There is just now a craze for bushy feathers, which make their wearers look like a savage chief in full war costume. These feathers—always uncured and straggling—are placed in two or three rows round the brim of the hat or toque and allowed to fall over the eyes.

A curious fashion, but one which has caught on to an alarming extent. Lewis is trying to make us accept very wide-brimmed hats and straw hats, which have low crowns and scanty trimming; the genuine "picture hat" which used to be so dear to the heart of the artist "Dorian." These hats will be immensely popular when the seaside season is in full swing, but for Paris they seem a trifle too remarkable.

As a matter of fact they are not really so remarkable as the small toques covered with straggling aigrettes and feathers, which are now so generally worn, but the big "picture" shapes are unexpected. It is quite a long time since we have worn them.

Short Jackets Popular. The growing popularity of short jackets is something that must be taken into consideration. They are shown in all the best dressmaking studios and it is certain that they will become very popular.

Many of these little garments are of Breton outline. Almost exactly like the little coats worn by Breton peasants—the men—on Sundays and holidays. Very simple, rather wide at the hem, finished with long sleeves of pagoda outline and open in front.

I have seen jackets of this order chez Paquin, Beer and Redfern; they are distinctly original, but I do not consider them very becoming. Nevertheless they must be taken into serious consideration because they are going to be generally worn.

A model created by Redfern was worn at the Longchamps races. It was very simple in outline, but unusual. This was a genuine Breton model and it is one which will be very fashionable a little later on in the season.

For the most part, the new models are long and full. The Parisiennes have been slow to consent to the added inches; in New York the dresses were ankle length, when over here in France, the majority of women wore dresses that cut the lower limbs half way between knee and ankle.

Even now there are many very smart Parisiennes who actively object to long walking dresses. My personal opinion is that the latest models by Paul Poiret have had much to do with this fight against the added inches.

Models Long and Full. At the beginning of the season Poiret launched models which were at one and the same time long and full. Women quickly realized that this outline, though quaint and picturesque, was not generally becoming; it called for a special type of woman and it rarely suited young girls.

Perhaps this was why so many of our best dressmakers—the real auto-crats of the rue de la Paix—have decided to retain the beautiful straight outlines of last year while adding width, actually, to the hem of the skirt. The reason is not easy to discover, but the fact remains.

Paquin, Worth, Doucet, Doenillet and others are showing lovely models which resemble those of yesterday, but which have much more material pressed into their composition.

At the fashionable race meetings one sees the most wonderful hats and toques. Quite amazing arrangements of paradise plumes, uncured ostrich feathers and aigrettes—the latter as a rule artificial and cleverly made of fine horse hair. There is just now a craze for bushy feathers, which make their wearers look like a savage chief in full war costume. These feathers—always uncured and straggling—are placed in two or three rows round the brim of the hat or toque and allowed to fall over the eyes.

A curious fashion, but one which has caught on to an alarming extent. Lewis is trying to make us accept very wide-brimmed hats and straw hats, which have low crowns and scanty trimming; the genuine "picture hat" which used to be so dear to the heart of the artist "Dorian." These hats will be immensely popular when the seaside season is in full swing, but for Paris they seem a trifle too remarkable.

As a matter of fact they are not

ORCHARD GLEANINGS

METHOD OF KILLING PSYLLA

Most Satisfactory Spray Mixture Is Combination of Soap, Tobacco Extract and Water.

The best means of killing Psylla flies in spring is spraying during a period of warm weather during early spring. The most satisfactory mixture, from the standpoint of safety to fruit and leaf buds and effectiveness against the insect, is three-fourths of a pint of tobacco extract (40 per cent nicotine) in 100 gallons of water to which are added from three to five pounds of soap.

Eggs about to hatch and newly emerged nymphs succumb to an application of the lime-sulphur solution. By postponing the dormant treatment for the San Jose scale until the blossom cluster-buds are beginning to separate at the tips, very effective work can be done against the eggs. The lime-sulphur should be used in the proportion of one gallon of the concentrate 32 degrees B. to eight gallons of water. In some tests of other contact sprays the miscible oils, oil emulsions, weak dilutions of nicotine, and soapy solutions were of small value for the destruction of the eggs. On the other hand, the wash having considerable amounts of sediment (15-20-50 formula) was less destructive to the eggs but the young psyllas which hatched for the most part failed to reach the opening buds and these succumbed to the action of the sediment which became attached to their bodies after leaving the egg shells.

While the adult psyllas seem to prefer to spend the winter under the loose bark of the trees, they may seek shelter under any waste which affords protection. Matted weeds, tufts of grass, leaves, or rubbish on or about the trees present ideal hiding places for the insects.

The rough bark not only provides a shelter for the psyllas during the winter but it also constitutes the chief obstacle to thorough spraying during the dormant season to kill the hibernating flies. Its removal is desirable for two reasons: first, to render the trees less attractive for the purposes of hibernation during late fall, winter and early spring; second, to facilitate a more thorough spraying of the trunks and lower portions of the larger limbs. The loose bark should be removed by a dull hoe or floor scraper, preferably during a wet period, as the bark is then more easily detached. Care should be taken not to cut into the live tissues as the wounds may become infested with disease. The bark should be collected and burned to kill the insects which are attached to the scrapings.

The chief factors which make for efficient work against the hibernating psylla flies and their eggs are (1) a knowledge on the part of the grower of the habits of the flies and an acquaintance with the eggs; (2) an understanding of the conditions under which these stages are most vulnerable to sprays; (3) thorough work in spraying.

DESTROY PEACH TREE BORER

Fine Crystals of Para-dichlorobenzene Sprinkled Around Base of Trees Is Efficient.

The horticulturists of the United States Department of Agriculture have found a new agent for the eradication of the destructive peach tree borer which has done $8,000,000 damage annually. The most effective remedy known heretofore has been to dig the larvae out of the trunks of the trees or to kill them with a long sharp wire. The new treatment consists of sprinkling crystals of para-dichlorobenzene around the base of the trees and covering slightly with earth. The substance is highly volatile, readily changing to a gas which is heavier than air and settles down through the soil. The gas is an effective destroyer of the pest. The para-dichlorobenzene can be obtained at any drug store. A pound is sufficient for eight or ten trees and costs only about 25 cents.

There was no trimming whatever, but the silver lame material was superb, supple as chiffon, and so rich that it glistened as if covered with diamond dust.

Draped evening and afternoon dresses are very fashionable this season. These models are made of satin, lame, embroidered crepe, panne, pailletted tulle and many other widely different materials.

It is a case of "draperies and yet again draperies." But to be successful these draperies must be arranged by master hands, otherwise they look simply untidy and without meaning.

Taffeta has come back with a rush. A few weeks ago we talked of nothing but satin and crepe de chine.

Some of the best taffeta models have the flounces edged with a picot stitch, and it is worthy of remark that the latest idea in this connection is a set of flounces all of the same width, not graduated, as has been fashionable through the winter.

RAISE EVERBEARING BERRIES

Their Productiveness May Be Attributed to Care as Well as Variety—Avoid Cheap Plants.

In my own experience, everbearing strawberries have proven a source of pleasure and profit. It has been three years since I started my patch with two plants from my experiment station, says a writer in Successful Farming. From those two plants have come all my present patch.

When my two plants arrived it was too early to set them out, so I planted them in a coffee pot and put them in the cellar. I planted them out in the garden as soon as the proper time came, but I took very little further notice of them that season. I had had experience with other everbearers, and had not been favorably impressed. Yet in spite of my neglect the two plants multiplied wonderfully. When the season was over, I found my two plants had increased to 25. Now my interest was really aroused.

I carefully set out these 25 plants the following spring. From them we gathered each week a large bowl of berries. They were certainly delicious, too. Again they increased remarkably. I had 250 plants to set out the following spring. I had become very enthusiastic by this time, and I gave them the care such plants should have. We were able to make a picking every other day, gathering from our small patch as high as six quarts at a single picking. It sounds almost like a fairy tale about the increase, but besides the fruit we raised 4,000 plants to set out last spring.

Last season we made a real business of handling the berries and raising plants. From our 4,000 plants we picked 1,044 quarts of berries during the season. Our record picking for a single week was 180 quarts, gathered during the week of August 11 to 16. We sold all of these to the summer resort near our place, at 40 cents a quart. This single week's picking netted $73.60, a very fair income for one week for just strawberries alone.

Of course, we are at an advantage in having our market within a mile of the place, but we also made an effort to use good selling methods. On each box of berries we stamped our name and address, so people would know where the fruit came from. This one little point greatly increased the interest of our customers, which in turn increased our sales.

In our experience these have been the only berries from which we have obtained fruit the first season. For us they have borne from July until November. Their productiveness may be attributed to care as well as variety. We gave them good care after the first year, employing the best methods we knew.

In selecting a variety of plant, get one of proven value. It may be that you will have to content yourself with a smaller number at first, but in the long run it is the only really good way to get a start. Do not try to get cheap plants, or something for nothing.

After you receive your plants get them into the ground as soon as possible. See that the ground is well prepared and in good garden tilth. If the ground is not ready, or if it is too early to plant, open the bunches and heel in the plants.

LOCATION FOR SMALL FRUITS

North or Northeastern Exposure Is Favored Because Buds Don't Start Early in Spring.

There is a general opinion that all varieties of small fruit, such as peaches, pears, plums, cherries, etc., will thrive better when set out on land that has a north or northeastern exposure. The reason for this being so is that the buds will not start as early in the spring and get caught by the first frost after warm weather comes for a few days.

Cultivating Blackberries.

Blackberries are not cultivated for their fruit to any large extent except in America. Here the cultivation of this berry began about 80 years ago.

WHY

Loyalty Is One of the Greatest Human Attributes.

When a man is loyal, he has found the summum bonum of life, writes Nathan Howard Gist in Pennsylvania Gist. More than good, he is good for something. His loyalty warms his heart. It wins the confidence of others toward him, whether they love or hate him. His loyalty shines out as the finest of qualities. When a man is loyal, there is no domestic strife so far as he is concerned. When a woman is loyal, her husband trusts her everywhere, and justly so. Loyalty is the antidote for divorce.

When a man is loyal, he has no trouble to speak of in his industrial plant. His employees love him, and every man in his employ would cut off his right arm for him.

When a man is loyal, he gives his employer the best he has. He may find his work distasteful. His hours may be long and badly arranged for him. His general surroundings may be anything but pleasant. But while he is in the employment of that man, he has sense enough not to condemn his employer. His loyalty puts a padlock on his lips, and he frowns on any suggestion of insubordination.

When a man is loyal, he despises the finger of scorn. He places a damper on the devilish gossip that poisons the whole community. He plucks every thistle he sees, and plants a rose in its place.

When a man is loyal, he is the inveterate foe of malice, or friction, of the divisions of opinion that separate men.

When a man is loyal, he is true to his country—in time of war, which is occasional, in times of peace, which is nearly all of the time. His best patriotism is the patriotism of peace.

COUNTRY'S NEED OF FORESTS

Why Men Who Know Are Protecting Against the Destruction of Our National Resources.

The ruthless destruction of their forests by the Chinese is, according to foresters of the United States Department of Agriculture, one of the reasons why famine and plague today hold this nation in their sinister grasp. Denudation, wherever practiced, leaves naked soil; floods and erosion follow, and when the soil is gone men must also go—and the process does not take long. Forests, it is pointed out, not only play an important part in the distribution of mankind over the earth's surface, but also deeply affect his spiritual, physical, and economic life. A country that recklessly wastes its natural resources faces ultimate poverty and decadence. History is full of such examples.

In the province of Homan, Shensi, and Chihli, China, over an area some 100,000 square miles in extent, several million people are starving. The immediate causes of the famine were disastrous floods followed by long periods of drought, which resulted in the failure of three successive crops.

Why Many Are Color Blind.

London Quakers and East End Jews are said to be more liable to color blindness than any other people, reports the London News. Prof. Henri M. Leon told the color circle of the International College of Chromatics that this may be because the original Quakers were opposed to brilliant colors, and because of the poor environment in which many Jews have had to live.

Men are more subject to color blindness than women, he said. Four men in every 100 are so afflicted, but only one woman in every 200 is color blind—probably because women are used to brilliantly colored clothes. There is no cure for inherited color blindness.

Professor Leon said there were three kinds of color blindness—failure to distinguish color at all, the confusion of red with green, black and brown and the failure to distinguish shades, such as blue and violet.

Why Mountains Are Loved.

All the world loves the mountains—loves them as color patterns on the blue, as marvels of light and shade, as symbols of peace and purity—loves them, in other words, as one might a picture. That there is a supreme grandeur about the peaks and a great beauty in the lesser hills every one will acknowledge. But the grandeur of the peaks is as hard to capture with the brush as the beauty of the hills with the pen. The landscape painter and the writer have had very moderate success in portraying them. The great features of nature seem defiant of representation.—John Q. Van Dyke.

Why Thermometers Vary.

Thermometers vary in their indications mainly on account of exposure, assuming that the instruments themselves register similarly under like conditions. The height above ground is an important factor, particularly on still nights, when radiation is quite active near the earth's surface, at which time important differences between thermometers located only short distances apart are recorded. When there is considerable air movement these differences disappear to a great extent.

Why He Was Let Out.

"What was the trouble with that young man that you let him go? I thought him particularly clever." "That was the trouble. He seemed to have the idea that he was clever enough to hold a job here without any actual physical exertion."

TO CELEBRATE BRIDGE OPENING

President of Chamber of Commerce Authorized To Same Committee To Cooperate In Proper Observance of Important Event In City's Progress.

At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon the president was authorized to appoint a special committee to take up the matter of securing arrangements for an appropriate celebration of the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge for traffic.

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Whereas the bridge across the Rondout creek at Kingston is now nearing completion, and

Whereas this is a most important link in the New York state highway system between New York city and Albany, and

Whereas with the completion of this bridge and of the Storm King road there will be available on the west side of the Hudson river one of the finest scenic highways to be found anywhere in the United States, and

Whereas this bridge is also of great importance to the city of Kingston in that it will afford more convenient communication between Kingston and a large part of the surrounding territory, and

Whereas the Kingston Chamber of Commerce has been active for many years in working to secure the construction of this bridge,

Therefore be it resolved that in the judgment of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce a fitting and appropriate celebration of the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge for traffic is a highly important and appropriate matter to the people of Kingston, and

Be it further resolved that the president is hereby authorized to appoint a special committee whose function it shall be to confer with other organizations and with public officials and individuals interested in this matter in order that a proper and fitting celebration of this important event may be arranged.

TOKIO PRESS IS SUSPICIOUS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Tokio, July 14 (Delayed).—Following publication here today by all Tokyo newspapers of the text of President Harding's disarmament conference invitation, as issued by the foreign office it was announced unofficially that Japan's reply had been transmitted to the United States through the American embassy.

Simultaneously with the release by the foreign office of the text of the invitation, a statement briefly summarizing the position of Japan on the subject was issued. In effect it said: "Japan agrees to the disarmament proposal but desires to know the program proposed by the United States."

With the publication of the text of the invitation, first favorable press comment has been followed up by a campaign of newspaper criticism questioning American motives in calling the conference.

The Asahi expresses the hope that Japan can persuade the United States to detach the discussion of Far Eastern problems from the disarmament conference.

"We sincerely hope," said a paper, "that President Harding can be persuaded to detach discussion of Pacific problems from the disarmament question and that he will not insist upon settlement first of the Far Eastern questions. It is desirable that the all important naval question should be settled first. The Pacific disarmament issues should be considered separately."

None Named to Mexican Commission.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 15.—The United States has taken no action on the invitation extended by President Garza of Mexico to the United States to name representatives to sit on a mixed claims commission to adjust the claims of foreign nations against Mexico. It was learned officially today. Officials of the state department withheld comment on the possible action of the United States.

START FOR CAMP ORANGE MONDAY

Twenty Boys From Here Will Camp With Orange County "Y" Boys At Ideal Place In Palisades Park—Camp Rules And Program.

Next Monday morning nearly twenty boys from the local Y. M. C. A. will leave for a two weeks camping trip near Bear Mountain. They will leave on the 3:05 West Shore train and will be in charge of Norman A. Dillinger, physical director at the "Y," who will be assisted by Fred Meeker, in the capacity of assistant camp leader.

An ideal site has been selected on Cedar Lake in the Palisades Interstate Park, eight miles west of Bear Mountain and 1,000 feet above sea level. Several sleeping cottages have been recently constructed. In addition to this, is a large mess hall outfit with tables, seats and a large fire place at one end. Undoubtedly, this will be the place of a number of evening entertainments, with stunts, stories, etc.

The camp is located on a bluff overlooking the three hundred acre lake. There is a dock for the boats, a living platform and a swimming crib for the non-swimmers. All swimming and boating will be under the direction of competent adult leaders. The local Association has joined with the Orange County Y. M. C. A. in the promotion of Camp Orange and in this way from sixty to eighty boys will be in camp. A volunteer adult leader for every eight boys will assist the camp leaders in regulating the camp.

The camp life includes the usual outdoor activities such as swimming, boating, hiking, fishing, games, nature study and woodcraft. Honor awards and emblems will be given for standards attained in various tests, including the largest fish, those learning to swim at camp, etc.

The daily program follows:

A. M.
7:00 Reveille, Morning Watch.
7:30 Setting Up Exercises.
8:00 Breakfast.
8:30 Chapel.
9:00 Camp Duties.
9:30 Scouting, Woodcraft, etc.
11:30 Morning Swim.

P. M.
12:45 Tent Inspection.
1:00 Dinner.
1:45 Rest.
2:30 Boating, Hikes, Sports.
5:00 Afternoon Swim.
6:00 Colors Lowered.
6:15 Supper.
7:00 Games, Boating.
8:00 Campfire Stories.
9:15 Taps, Lights out and then nine hours sleep.

The above program will be rigidly adhered to and every boy will be expected to take part in each activity unless excused by leader for some cause.

The sanitary arrangements are under the direct supervision of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission. All camp refuse will be carried away from the camp so that it will not be a source of infection. The drinking water is piped into the camp from a source that has been analyzed and is absolutely pure. Nothing has been left undone to safeguard the health of the campers.

There are very few rules except that a spirit of selfishness, loyalty and cooperation will rule the camp. Smoking and fire arms will be prohibited by all connected with the camp.

The boys from Kingston that have already signed to attend the camp are Philip Hall, Karl Meisinger, Sam Messinger, Bobbie Jenkins, Archie Rock, Buster Howard, Oscar Wherry, Watson Bailey, Floyd Burger, Cutler Brown, David Elten, Albert Aynet, Charles Kelley and Walter Brown. A few more boys between the ages of 12 and 18 can be taken to camp if they get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday.

Mail addressed to the boys in camp should be addressed to Camp Orange, Southfields, N. Y. By previous arrangements with the camp leaders, parents or visitors can be accommodated over night at the rate of $1.25 per day, including meals. The camp can be reached by the West Shore Railroad to Bear Mountain and then by bus line to within a short distance of camp. The dates of the camp will be July 18 to 30.

NEW FIELD FOR EXPERTS.

Doctor's Evidence on Intoxication Accepted in Court.

A new field for experts has been discovered at Cairo, Greene county, where Durward Wilsey was arrested on a charge of public intoxication.

When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Burnham he pleaded not guilty and said he was not intoxicated. Dr. Persons was called and after an examination declared he was under the influence of strong drink. Whereupon Durward was sent to jail for thirty days.

William J. Stemple of Hudson was arrested by Sheriff George Osborne for operating a car while intoxicated. He, too, was taken before Justice Burnham, where he pleaded not guilty. Dr. Persons was again called in for examination and to give testimony. The court held that professional evidence was sufficient and sent Stemple to jail for fifteen days.

DARING THEFT AT EDDYVILLE

This morning about 5 o'clock four men in an automobile bearing a New Jersey license, drove up and stopped in front of the garage of Anthony Taddonio, just across the bridge at Eddyville, and breaking into the garage rolled Mr. Taddonio's 1918 model Oldsmobile touring car out into the road, and drove away with it.

They were last heard of passing through St. Remy and were headed towards New Paltz.

At the time Mr. Taddonio was sound asleep at his home, but the four strangers were seen by a neighbor, who notified Mr. Taddonio. The license number on the stolen car is 14081 N. Y., and initials "A. T." are on the panels of the doors. The sheriff's office and police headquarters were notified and a general alarm has been sent out together with a description of the car.

THREE HURT WHEN CAR HIT POLE

This morning a touring car containing a party of New York residents on their way to the mountains skidded on the state road in the town of Esopus, about two miles south of the residence of Dr. Ross in Port Ewen, and crashed into a telephone pole. None of the party were hurt of the car, but three were injured and hurried to the Kingston City Hospital.

The three were P. Roth, Mrs. I. Roth and Miss Blanche Roth, all of New York city. Miss Roth has a bad laceration over the right eye and on the right cheek. Mrs. Roth has an injured knee, and Mr. Roth two broken ribs.

The car was wrecked so badly that it had to be towed to Kingston for repairs.

SIFT WEISENSTEIN DEATH EVIDENCE

An inquest was held at Ellenville Thursday before Coroner Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson, to inquire into the death of George Weisenstein, a small boy who was killed at Ellenville on June 21, when he was struck by a three-ton motor truck owned by a man named Rosenthal and driven by George Rosenthal.

The Weisenstein boy, with a number of other children, were playing in a yard and along a driveway leading into the yard, on Canal street, in the rear of which Rosenthal kept his truck under a shed. Rose drove the truck in the yard while the children were playing, in tending to put up the truck for the day. There was but little evidence to show how the accident occurred, but indications pointed to the fact that the children had started to run when the truck came in the yard, and turning to the right, Rose started to back and it was at that time the Weisenstein boy was struck. He suffered a fractured skull and died almost instantly.

Dr. Rose was not sworn. None of the witnesses say the accident except an uncle who said the right rear wheel had passed over the boy's head. While the skull was fractured the skull was not mashed as might be expected if the wheel had passed over it.

Coroner Humiston will file his findings in the case later. The examination was conducted by Dr. Y. H. Harrison, a New York city attorney was present at the hearing on behalf of the accident insurance company in which Mr. Rosenthal carried insurance. William D. Brinnier, Jr., of this city also was present.

WOMEN WANT SHARE

In Arriving At Disarmament Agreement.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 15.—The ladies' "em" want to be in on President Harding's disarmament conference.

The women's committee for World Disarmament announced today that "just representation of women" in the conference will be demanded of the president.

The committee also announced that representation will be asked for groups "which bear the brunt of war and are discriminated from any special interests in the promotion of war, and the profits which accrue from war."

Commissioner Blair's ruling followed hearings granted leading individual dealers in cotton and grain.

DWYER BROTHERS IN NEW VENTURE

First Local Firm to Attempt to Open Transportation on Great Lakes Via Barge Canal—Are Sending Three Barges Loaded With Cement to Cleveland.

In an attempt to open navigation between Hudson river ports and the ports along the Great Lakes, Dwyer Brothers of this city are sending three of their large 1,000-ton barges through the barge canal to Lake Erie consigned to Cleveland, Ohio.

The three barges are now on the way up the river from New York city in a tow and will be dropped off at Hudson where they will be loaded with cement. The barges are the C. R. O'Connor, P. J. Barry and Thomas P. Brennan.

When loaded they will be towed to Troy where the barge canal starts and towed through the canal to Buffalo and thence by way of Lake Erie to Cleveland, Ohio, one of the longest and most dangerous voyages ever attempted by barges.

Dwyer Brothers when sent today said that if the barges reached Cleveland safely that they would return with full cargoes, probably of grain, consigned to ports along the river or in New York.

With the barge canal in operation it widens the field of transportation for Hudson river barges, and undoubtedly other transportation companies will watch with interest the venture now being made by the local concern. If the venture proves successful it undoubtedly means that water transportation to points along the Great Lakes from Hudson river ports will be given a great impetus.

KILLS SELF IN PITCHER'S BOX

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Boston, July 15.—"I have played so many games of baseball here, this is the place I want to die."

So reads the note found beside the body of Arthur Esison, 22 years old, former Somerville High School student, when the youth's body with a bullet in the brain, was discovered in the pitcher's box of the Tufts Oval today. A .38 calibre revolver with one bullet exploded lay near the body.

The note, addressed to "my dear, dearest mother," read: "Please do not grieve. Live the rest of your life as happy as possible. 'Pa, please be good to her and love her as you should.'"

He goes on to say he had tried without success to overcome a nervous trouble. Esison's parents' residence at Fairmount, W. Va. A message addressed to "Horace" believed to be Horace Ford of the Boston National Baseball Team, read: "Good luck, Horace, play your head off for the Braves."

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

John Bott of Andrew street is on an automobile trip to New York city.

James Edward Conway, of 159 Main street, who was operated upon at the Beneficent Hospital, is improving under the care of Dr. Mark O'Meara.

A chapter of the Women's Mooseheart Legion will be instituted to-night beginning at 8 o'clock at Master's Hall, to which the officers and all members of Loyal Order of Moose in good standing are invited to attend.

Saturday evening will be a big evening in Newburgh Masonic circles when a large delegation from the Police and Fire Square Clubs—with Bob Hubbard—of New York city, will pilgrimage to Newburgh and their degree team will confer the second section of the degree of Master Mason on two fellowcrafts—Newburgh lodges. That all Masonic brethren may be welcomed in true fraternal spirit the members of the two Newburgh lodges will meet at the Temple at 8:30 o'clock that evening for parade formation marching to the Central-Hudson pier where the delegation will be in waiting. Kingston brethren are expected to visit Newburgh, and to participate both in the parade and in the ceremonies at the lodge rooms.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Caroline Rugar of No. 66 Spruce street died at an early hour this morning. The deceased has a host of friends, who deeply regret to learn of her death. Funeral notice will be published at a later date.

Mrs. Elizabeth Leiry died early this morning after a lingering illness at the home of her son, Frank Leiry, No. 16 Third avenue. Only her son Frank survives her. The funeral will be held from her son's home Monday morning, at 9 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment in St. Peter's cemetery.

Ford Has Chance.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 15.—"I will not turn down any reasonable offer," Secretary of War Weeks said this afternoon, commenting on the proposal of Henry Ford to take over the government nitrate plant at Shoals, Alabama.

Bulgaria Not to Fight.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, July 15.—Bulgaria will not intervene in the Greco-Turkish war, said a message from Premier Stamboulski at Sofia today. The International News Service sent a telegram to the Bulgarian premier asking him to comment upon reports that Bulgaria was preparing to attack Greece and the following reply was received: "The reports are untrue. Bulgaria will not attack Greece. Bulgaria is determined to respect the Treaty of Sevres and wishes to remain at peace. She does not want to mix either in Greek or Turkish affairs."

JACK FROST HOLDS SECRET

Yet We May Gather Something of What Must Be Learned If One Would Remain Young.

As if to crown the year, autumn not only brings her mellow fruitfulness and golden days of summer warmth, but occasionally opens the door and lets old winter in. It all happened as predicted, remarks the "Herald," the stars came out clear and bright, the moon was gorgeous in its round refulgence, but there was an ominous stillness in the air. When the door was left ajar, a chilling cold sent her arrow through.

The next morning when the sun arose he had more work than usual on his hands. The frozen forms of spar, king dew hung pendant from the drooping goldenrod and crowned the aster with a heavy snow. The smoke rose straight skyward from the many chimneys round about, while the roofs steamed with incense unknown to them for many weeks.

Autumn had simply turned another page to bear witness to her versatility. She announced that time was up for ripening grape or late strawberry blossom. The wondrous drama that had for five months past been staged in every garden was for the season closed, but the mighty color pageant of October still remains to celebrate for days in hill and dale the harvest bounty.

What is the secret of this transformed world in field and pasture? Jack Frost has brought with him invigorating air together with the wine and zest of the whole year. But he has steadily put to sleep the flower fancies of the summer. And he has done it by checking the flow of sap and leaf, stalk and trunk. In place of flexibility there is now rigidity of stem and petal, and where pliability was once the mark of garden life stiffness is now upon her flower children.

Who can fail to see written in the garden a parable for man? All is well for him as long as he keeps his frame plastic and his mind open to new ideas and enthusiasms. Vital interest in new issues and a large openness of mind do much to keep a man young. But once let dogmatism touch him, or let him become crabbed or cocksure, set or opinionated, and the frost touches him to check his growth.

Richard Le Gallienne cites well the secret of the frost in saying that "a man is not old till he ceases to fall in love, carries a pocket mirror to examine his tongue." The frost hits him when "he begins to say that times are changed and begins to speak of young people as a separate and disappointing class." The frost touch of rigidity is the secret of Jack Frost.

No time limit has been set to growth in the garden of the human mind. When a man is so foolish as to stake these limits for himself, then he makes himself liable to the benumbing blight of Jack Frost.

Real Republican Prayer.

On March 4 the school children of Terre Haute were instructed to utter a two-minute prayer for Mr. Harding. One primary teacher told her children all about Mr. Harding, the position he was taking and all the responsibilities he was to have. So at eleven o'clock she said: "Now, children, fold your hands and bow your heads. This is the time we're going to pray."

But up went the hand of a very ardent little Methodist Sunday school scholar. "Please, teacher, may I lead in prayer?" he asked.

His teacher nodded, and he uttered his earnest little prayer, "Dear Mr. Harding—Please bless us and keep us forever and forever. Amen."—Indianapolis News.

HAS TABLE SET FOR DAVY

Little Old English Woman Refutes to Relinquish Hope for Husband Who Never Returns.

In a whitewashed cottage on the precipitous slope of one of the Clamorgan hills, a little, aged woman with white hair sat down to her simple Christmas dinner. It was homely fare enough, a stewed rabbit (brought in by a kindly neighbor farmer the previous day), one or two vegetables and a rice pudding.

She sat alone at the table, but opposite her was a plate with knife and fork and spoons set ready for another. It has been so every Christmas for the past 40 years, says a writer in the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

On a bright May morning, in 1880, Lucy Williams, the 22-year-old daughter of a Welsh crofter, was married at the village church to a sailor, the son of a laborer two fields away. Two months later Davy set out from the cottage on the hillside to "foot it" to Cardiff, where his ship was due to sail the following day.

Lucy cried a little, but he assured her that he would be home again by Christmas and charged her to omit nothing in the way of viands from their first Christmas dinner together. Then he passed out through the garden gate and waved a last kiss to the little lass who watched his departure.

That was the last she saw of him. A fortnight passed and she received a letter from him posted at Nantes, another a few weeks later from New Orleans, and a third and a fourth, and then they ceased. Day after day she waited and month after month, but no news of Davy. Inquiries at the shipping office only evoked the information that the vessel was long overdue and that that nothing was known of her. Then she refused to give up hope. She had implicit faith that Davy would yet return. Christmas, her first Christmas married, came, but no Davy. Yet she omitted nothing in her preparations for the dinner. Had not Davy charged her? And he might yet come—who knows? And she placed his plate ready for him at the table so that he might see he was expected.

That was 40 years ago and every Christmas for 40 years she has remembered his words and never omits to put his plate on the table in case he comes home, and she will go on doing it to the end of the chapter.

Easy to Check Sneezes.

As many know, sneezing may be averted by pressing firmly upon the upper lip with the fingers. The "why" of this is that by so doing we deaden the impression made up a certain branch of the "fifth nerve," sneezing being a reflex action excited by some slight impression made upon that nerve. Proof of this is taken in the fact that sneezing never takes place when the nerve mentioned is paralyzed, even though the cause of snell be fully retained.

Highway Improvement

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)
Repair bills for damaged roads would be much reduced, engineers in the bureau of public roads report, after extensive experimental work. If motor trucks were designed to carry more of the loads put on them over the front axle and less over the rear wheels, as at present. In the average heavy truck of today the body is nearly balanced on the rear axle. When the truck strikes an obstacle or an irregularity in the highway, the damage done to the road surface by the rear wheels is much greater than it would be if the load were distributed on both axles.

Given a perfectly smooth road surface, traveled by a truck with perfectly smooth circular tires, there would be no impact, regardless of the speed or weight of load. Since such an ideal condition is practically impossible, road engineers recognize that all factors which increase or reduce the impact of a load are of the utmost importance in planning highway construction and regulation.

The placing of the larger part of the load on the rear axle is only one of several factors which lead to high impact forces. In general, the increased speed of the truck will increase the impact, hence the necessity for keeping the operating speed within reasonable limits. Roads kept as smooth as possible by careful maintenance will reduce the possibility of trucks exerting impact and pressure forces upon the highway surface. Cushion or pneumatic tires also reduce impact and cause less damage to the highways than those of hard rubber, especially if the latter are not kept in good repair.

DRIVERS CAN IMPROVE ROADS

Wear to Surface Can Be Prevented by Driving Over Middle and Other Less Used Parts.

Drivers can prevent wear to the surfaces of the roads and even improve their condition if instead of driving in one track or on the edge of the road they will drive over the middle and other less used parts of the road when traffic permits. The one thing that is fatal above all things to road surfaces, whether dirt or paved, is driving in tracks, which subjects one small part of the road surface to all the traffic and damage that the whole road accommodates. Traffic should be evenly distributed over the entire surface of the road, and a little thoughtfulness and care in this respect on the part of drivers will do much to add to the permanence and excellence of our roadways.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR ROADS

Up to November 1, $72,744,000 Had Been Expended, and $121,322,198 More Allotted.

Discussing progress in road construction since enactment of the federal aid legislation four years ago, Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, reported that up to November 1, 3,190 miles of "first class" highway had been completed. As its share of the cost the federal government had expended $72,744,000 and allotted $121,322,198 more. Other results of national legislation, Mr. McDonald said, had been the establishment of state highway departments in five states and the reorganization of such departments in 20 other states.

Road Work in France.
Road construction cost in France during pre-war years, $15,000 per mile, but has since then increased 150 to 200 per cent.

Bodily Worn Tires Prohibited.
In Connecticut, the use of bodily worn or partially deflated tires on the highways is strictly forbidden.

Total Highway Mileage.
Highway mileage in the United States now totals 2,475,000 miles, or ten times the mileage of the railways.

New Weapon for War on Rain.
The exhaust of an automobile has been successfully used in driving away rain which retarded all previous efforts. The gas was turned into one of the car's pipes and the exhausts escaped out of them.

London, England, gives itself up to its state-spectacular of the importance of infant welfare, and the annual "Baby Week" is its chief function. How London cares for its babies can be seen in this photograph. The photo shows a nurse sunbathing two of the little inmates. This is an important part of the curative treatment.

Efficient Reading.

The only way to read with any efficiency is to read so heavily that after time comes two hours before you expect it. To sit with your eyes before you and hear the words that come to the capital reading, and to see with your own eyes the handwriting writers gathering up the lines of the Roman knights after the battle of Cannae and bringing them into bundles; and to be so intimately present at the scenes of which you are reading that when any one speaks at the door it will take you two or three seconds to determine whether you are in your study or on the plains of Lombardy looking at the phalanx of Hannibal's army—that is the only kind of study that is not strenuous, almost the only kind that is not useless.—Frederic Smith.

Safe Floors Fear Moths.

Safe floors are the most surprising of all. Safe floors are in the business. Safe floors, because of their superlative construction, have to be treated with great consideration—they're so sensitive, he says. If anything goes wrong they begin to taking a nap. A little matter like leaving a safe standing on the sidewalk overnight makes nothing to them; they fear another accident will follow more serious than the first. Not long ago while a mover was "padding" a safe being lowered from the side of an office building the rope broke. Safe and man crashed to the street and the mover was killed. His companion movers quit work for two days.

TWO KILLED IN BELFAST BATTLE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Belfast, July 15.—Order was restored here today after a new outbreak of violence in which two persons were killed and more than forty wounded. The military curfew order is being strictly enforced. William Grant, a Unionist member of parliament, was shot through the breast during an outbreak of firing in the streets last night.

GREEKS TAKE IMPORTANT CITY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Athens, July 15.—Greek troops in Anatolia have occupied the important city of Adum-Karahissar on the Bagdad railway, said a despatch from Smyrna today quoting an official announcement from the Greek general staff.

BOYS MUST SWIM

This Weather Even If They Break Break Law, Decides Judge.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 15.—It is no crime to go swimming these days—even if the crime of breaking and entering has to be perpetrated in order to do it. Such was the decision today of Justice Hoyt in discharging fifteen boys for breaking into a public school building to swim in the pool.

"If pools are ever open they should be open these hot days," said the court, as it mopped its judicial brow.

Ramsdell Excursion

The steamboat Homer Ramsdell of the Central-Hudson Line will run another of its excursion trips to New York and return on Sunday.

OIL DUTY NOT YET OUT OF TARIFF

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—With general debate ended, the house today took up the task of amending the Fordney tariff bill. The row has been given to the ways and means committee, which has a large number of amendments to offer.

An amendment fixing a 15 per cent duty on hides is one of the changes, which it is predicted will be forced, accompanied by compensatory duties on leather manufacturer on boots and on shoes.

Hides are on the free list of the Fordney tariff bill now. The agricultural group of the house, however, have outlined a fight to have a duty placed on hides. Indications today are that they have mustered sufficient strength to vote the duty into the bill.

The cotton men who are demanding a duty on long staple cotton do not seem to have made the same headway that was made by the hide duty advocates, and the chances are they will fail in their efforts to take cotton from the free list and place it under a duty.

Chief interest centers today in the fight for and against a duty on crude and fuel oil. At the last moment this duty was added to the Fordney bill, oil being taken from the free list. Both sides are fighting desperately and the recent protest of President Harding against a duty on oil as likely to interfere with commercial negotiations with Mexico is being used with effect against those urging the retention of the proposed duties.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, July 15.—The Rev. J. F. Nicholas, D. D. of the Woodstock Reformed Church will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. on "Babel or Pentecost," and at 8:30 on "Joseph-Type of Christ." Christian Endeavor at 8 p. m. The morning sermon will also be preached at Zena Reformed Church at 2:30. A hearty invitation to all.

SENATE DEBATES SOLDIER BONUS

Vote on Motion to Re-commit Delayed by Efforts of Harrison and Kenyon to Instruct Committee.

Washington, July 15.—The soldier bonus bill will be sent back to the senate finance committee today in compliance with the president's request that the senate defer action on it. Republican leaders predicted.

Although the hour for final consideration of the Penrose motion to re-commit the bill was fixed by unanimous consent at 3 o'clock this afternoon the vote on it was delayed by efforts of both Republicans and Democratic senators to bind the committee with instructions.

Senator Kenyon, (R.) of Iowa, has an amendment pending which would instruct the committee to rewrite the bill and report it back to the senate not later than January 1, 1922.

The amendment is not acceptable to Senator Pat Harrison and other Democratic senators opposing the Penrose motion. They intend to offer an amendment of their own which would force earlier committee action on the bill.

All efforts to instruct the committee will probably be voted down. Debate and action on proposed instructions are likely to delay the vote on the motion itself until late in the afternoon.

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, at whose request a special senatorial committee is now investigating the alleged neglect of sick and maimed ex-service men, attacked the Penrose motion when the senate reconvened.

Walsh urged that congress "owe the country's fighting men a debt of honor which ought to be paid."

House Republican leaders, with the possible exception of Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, will follow the recommendation of President Harding that adjusted compensation for the soldiers be deferred until the treasury is in better shape to stand the strain.

The facts of the situation are these," said Republican Leader Mondell today.

"The house is bending all its energies and devoting all its time to the enactment of tariff and tax revenue legislation. When this work shall have been completed the house will take a recess for rest. It is entitled to a rest."

Leader Mondell said that Fordney still favored a soldier cash bonus. Before there can be such legislation there will have to be hearings on the subject before the ways and means committee, as Fordney has indicated. Mondell does not think such hearings would be held or concluded during the present session of congress.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, July 15.—The Medical Society of the County of Ulster here accepted the invitation of their president, Dr. George F. Wilkison, of Ellenville and will hold their annual outing this summer at Beaver Dam. The outing will take place on Wednesday, July 24, the doctors, their wives and families being invited.

Mrs. Paul Nicholas returned to her home here after spending the winter in the city. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Epper returned with her.

There was a large attendance at the hearing before the village board Tuesday evening, on the Sunday bar-hall petition. A large opposition was presented and the Rev. Chas. A. Dunn and W. S. Mair made strong pleas against the move. The board declined to pass the ordinance.

D. E. Hootnbeck and wife of Washington, who are staying here for the summer expected to start Monday on a three weeks auto trip. They will tour the state as far west as Niagara Falls and so on north as far as Montreal, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hartwell will accompany them.

GET PRIME TENDER MEATS AT LAY'S BIG SAT'DAY SALE

Our Lamb, Pork, Beef and Veal are choice enough to make you feel contented after every meal; but there is something better in market-keeping than the selling of great quantities of meats. To sell the "BEST QUALITY" that can be bought for the price paid is the goal at which we have been driving. If we can do that well enough, we are satisfied to let the public determine the quantity of meats we shall sell. Two other points we follow in our service are "PRICE" and "SERVICE." We want you to convince yourself Saturday that these principles prevail at this market.

SILLY TO ARGUE!

Of Course "Married Men Are the Nicest."

Marjorie Puts It Plainly, Though Perhaps There Are Some of Us May Not Understand.

"Married men are nicest!" But are they, really? Well, I don't know, but I'd like to think so. Anyhow, I've heard the phrase trip more than once from pretty lips, and there is no doubt that the speakers were in earnest.

Sometimes it has been varied thus: "All the nicest men are married."

Now, a man when he stumbles away from the altar may feel small and humble enough; but the fact that he has squeaked out an "I do!" and has clumsily placed a plain gold ring onto a woman's finger does not mean that he has shed his masculine vanity and his childish delight in compliments. Looking at the thing frankly, writes W. Harold Thomson in the continental edition of the London Mail, I fail to see how there can be any rule about it. After all, every married man was once a bachelor.

But our charming critics don't seem to think about that. They just say "Married men are nicest."

It's all very gratifying and very confusing. I asked Marjorie about it the other day.

"Marjorie," I said, "you have got your hair up now and you talk as one having authority and not as the scribe. I want you to tell me why you say that married men are nicest?" She put her head to one side and swallowed the second half of what she thought was a liqueur chocolate.

"I don't know," she said, "but it's true. They're kinder than bachelors and more understanding. They talk to a woman as though they were neither afraid of her nor—nor contemptuous of her. They're sort of experienced about us. I suppose that's it."

"My child," I said, "don't you realize that when you marry you will choose a bachelor to be your husband?"

"Yes," she admitted, and nodded at me, "but I'll be a most desperate hurry to make him into a married man. He'll be ever so much improved when he's my husband."

"Now look here," I said very patiently, "you want to face this calmly. If you had lived as long as I and knew as many wedded couples you'd realize that almost every wife knows that the ideal husband is either some bachelor or is married to some one else."

"Is that clever?" Marjorie asked. "It may be," I answered. "The point is—it's true!"

"She was rummaging about in the chocolate box."

"It isn't the point at all," she told me. "The point is that the nicest men get married. They can't help it. They are the kind who fall in love and make women fall in love with them. Therefore they are the dearest."

"Look here," I said, "this won't do. We're getting out of our depth. I want you to understand that a married man must start by being a bachelor, and therefore—"

"She pushed the chocolate screen. 'Oh, don't let's argue,' she said. 'It's no use, anyway. Married men are the nicest.'"

I took a chocolate.

Now a Weedless Lawn. A long sought fertilizer has at last been secured, after twenty years of research, which will slowly and surely exterminate the weeds, while permitting the grass to grow freely. Ammonium sulphate is found to be more advantageous than sodium nitrate, which tends to create an alkaline condition of the soil, especially favorable to the propagation of weeds. Ammonium sulphate produces reversed conditions and the grass flourishes and the weeds are so weakened that they are crowded out. Of course, this plan of fertilization must be qualified, as only grass that is an acid tolerant would develop along the line of extermination of the weeds. The weeds to resist must be non-acid tolerant also.—Scientific American.

Her Position. Little Esther was sometimes permitted to talk on the phone with mother's help, and one morning when she had been left alone for a few minutes she decided to call up her grand-mother.

"She climbed carefully onto a chair, and from there onto the sewing machine, which stood near by. She took down the receiver, but when the operator called, 'Number please,' she could think of nothing to say."

"Get off the line, please," called the operator, as no one answered. "I'm not on the line," piped up a small voice. "I'm on my mother's sewing machine."

Not Home. The sweet young thing had been unable to buy the article she wanted, but in each case the clerk had assured her that "next time" it would certainly be in stock. One day she called at the store to find a new clerk on the job.

"Do you have what you want?" she inquired.

"The clerk hesitated. 'No, ma'am,' he answered. 'I'm not being with my wife now.'"

The clerk hesitated. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm not being with my wife now."

The clerk hesitated. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm not being with my wife now."

The clerk hesitated. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm not being with my wife now."

The clerk hesitated. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm not being with my wife now."

The clerk hesitated. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm not being with my wife now."

The clerk hesitated. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm not being with my wife now."

Decorative Ground Glass.

Decorative was a victim to the habit of reading in bed. When going the northern circuit as a steady budgetary, an old king's counsel saying in the same level with him noted that Decorative carefully picked out the longest candle on the mantel of the room were waiting for the night. "He remembered with him," says Dr. George F. Fennell, "the danger of reading in bed, upon which Decorative replied with immense rapidity of utterance: 'I always read in bed at home; and if I am not afraid of contracting germs and contracting germs, I can hardly be supposed to pay any special regard to the laws of the kingdom of Heaven.' And, as he said, he left his bedroom, carrying a candle, and marched off to his room."

Delicious That Do Not Travel.

Least appreciated, relatively to their gastronomical merits, are the soft-shelled turtles, natives of the large rivers and lakes. They are hardly inferior to the diamond back terrapin, but are seldom seen in the markets for two reasons—because they do not ship well and because local demand, where they are caught, runs up the supply. They are home-consumption delicacies, like the honey locust, the diamond-grain watermelon and the fall pigskin apple—also good for the stomach and very rare in our original flavor in passing through the hands of the middleman.

AIM FOR HEALTH AND VIGOR

or Are Fairly Reliable Guide
for Selection.

Only by continuous selection for health and vigor is it possible to build up a flock that will produce fertile eggs, strong chicks capable of making quick growth, and pullets with sufficient stamina to withstand the strain of heavy egg production. The appearance of a bird is not always a sure indication of its vigor, but appearance and action taken together are a fairly reliable guide for picking out vigorous birds, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The comb, face, and wattles should have a good, bright color; the eyes should be bright and fairly prominent, and the head should be comparatively broad and short, having a fairly short, well-curved beak and showing no tendency to be long "snaky," or "crow-headed."

The bird should be alert and have a strong, vigorous carriage; the legs

Government Poultry Farm, Belts-
ville, Md.

should be set well apart and strongly support the body, giving no indication of weakness or a knock-kneed condition. The bone, as seen in the shank, should be strong and not too fine for the breed, while the toes should be strong, straight, and not too long. The plumage should be clean and smooth, as a lack of condition often accompanies soiled, roughened plumage. The condition of flesh should be good, as a very thin bird is usually in poor health. Sick fowls, or fowls that have apparently recovered from sickness, should never be used for breeding if it can be avoided.

FEEDS FOR GROWING CHICKS

In Addition to Grains, Growth of
Young Fowl Can Be Hastened by Supplying Milk.

As soon as chickens will eat whole wheat, cracked corn, and other grains, the small-sized chick feed can be eliminated. In addition to the above feeds the chickens' growth can be hastened if they are given sour milk, skim milk, or buttermilk to drink.

Growing chickens kept on a good range may be given all their feed in a hopper, mixing two parts by weight of cracked corn with one part of wheat, or equal parts of cracked corn, wheat and oats in one hopper, and the dry mash in another. The best scrap may be left out of the dry mash and fed in a separate hopper, so that the chickens can eat all of this feed they desire. If the best scrap is to be fed separately it is advisable to wait until the chicks are 10 days old, the poultry division of the United States Department of Agriculture advises, although many poultrymen feed the best scrap before the young chickens at the start without bad results.

Chickens confined to small yards should always be supplied with green feed. Fine charcoal, grit and oyster shell should be kept before the chickens at all times, and cracked or ground bone may be fed where the chickens are kept in small, bare yards, but the latter feed is not necessary for chickens that have a good range.

Table Given by Department of Agriculture Shows Infertile Product to Superior.

The following table, compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture, shows that the losses of fertile eggs are computed to be nearly twice as great as of infertile eggs:

	Fertile Infertile Eggs	Per cent Percent
On the farm	25.0	15.3
At country store	2.1	4.0
Transportation to packing house	4.6	0.7
Total	31.7	20.0

LOCATION FOR BROOD COOPS

Should Be Placed on Spot Where
Grass Is Green and Tender and Renewed Frequently.

Brood coops with runs should be placed on ground where the grass is green and tender, and as fast as it is eaten off, the coop and run should be moved to a place where the grass is plentiful, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

How to Avoid Colds.

Before you leave a warm room and open the street door to go out, always remember to shut your mouth. Keep it closed until you have walked briskly for about ten minutes. Then, if you keep on walking, you may talk as much as you please.

If you keep your mouth closed and walk briskly, the air can only reach the lungs by a circuit of the nose and head and become warm before reaching them, thus causing no derangement of these very important organs. On the other hand, large draughts of cold air dash directly in upon the lungs, and in a few days you wonder how you caught that awful cold.

Insurance Sea Safety.

Lifeline device, described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine, are so designed that one man, by turning a crank, can lower a boat with ease. They are now being installed on a number of ocean liners, greatly increasing the potential safety of sea travel as well as the comfort of passengers. If use of the device becomes necessary, the one crank operates both the outward swing of the davit and the falls. Because of the improvement in case of lowering, larger lifelines can be used, with more comfortable storage space for fresh water and provisions.

"I can say this," replied the speaker frankly, "I have a friend who I am confident would have given you to hang round you."
"Who is it?" asked the speaker.

Senegal and Its People

Mountaineers of Senegal.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Senegal, brought into prominence because of the thousands of Senegalese who, as soldiers and laborers, assisted the French in the World War, is the gateway and main trade route to France's West African possessions.

In that country and in the regions inland to the east, Mohammedanism holds almost undisputed sway; and from there, some observers declare, there is likelihood that this religion will sweep southward until the great majority of African natives will become Moslems in name at least.

On its west, or Atlantic coast, Senegal may be said to mark the beginning of the real Africa—the hot, moist "dark continent" peopled with negroes. For northern Africa is to a large extent desert, and is the land of Arab and Berber, or "Moors." As one steams down the Atlantic coast of Africa, leaving the last of the perennial streams of Morocco, he skirts a forbidding desert coast without a permanent stream for 1,900 miles. The first large stream encountered in the Senegal, emptying into the sea through a system of lakes and lagoons, navigable during the rainy season for 600 miles inland. This was naturally one of the best trade routes into the interior of northwestern Africa, and by the construction of a railroad from the river's rapids to a point 455 miles farther inland, it has been made still better.

Real Control by France Is Recent.

The foothold of France in Senegal dates from the days of Richelieu. In 1639 Fort St. Louis was established as a trading post at the mouth of the Senegal river. France could point to little more than the maintenance of coast stations in this region, however, until relatively recent times. It was not until near the middle of the Nineteenth century that there was anything like an aggressive effort to consolidate Senegal under French control. How great the progress has been since that time is indicated by the fact that there are now four self-governing municipal communities in Senegal, and they jointly send a deputy to the French chamber in Paris.

The portion of Senegal which may be regarded as having progressed far toward becoming like Algeria, a part of France, is small, embracing less than 1,000 square miles and having a population of only a few hundred thousands. The remainder of Senegal, with an area of more than 70,000 square miles, consists of native states under French protection and under the supervision of resident agents.

Situated between desert Africa and moist tropical Africa, Senegal is not unreasonably a region of mixed races. As one advances from the north, the Senegal river marks the first encounter with predominantly negro tribes. At its mouth the end of the desert and its fringe of semi-desert. On the north side of the river dwell people of Berber or "Moors" stock—swarthy, straight-haired, straight-nosed. To the south of the river the tribes vary much in appearance, but practically all are negroes—black or dark chocolate colored, with broad flat noses and kinky hair. Close to the coast are the members of the Wolof tribe, who are usually regarded as typically Senegalese. They are said to be the blackest negroes known. Even their lips are black. The people of this tribe are particularly loyal to the French and have served in large numbers as soldiers.

Wise Methods of Administration.

To administer Senegal, as indeed to administer all her African possessions, France has depended on fact rather than on force. Her officials not only recognize native chiefs, but also treat them with consideration. The traditions of the rulers are preserved with valuable care, which emphasizes the strength and power of France, and since the leaders are taken to Paris as guests of the government, the French administrators have earned the gratitude of the large and influential trading class in Africa by breaking up brigandage and policing the caravan routes. The Moslems are all grateful because of the French policy, which has insured privacy to the mosques and harems and has permitted them to continue their schools and colleges, and in some cases has even subsidized such institutions.

But though France has permitted Moslem schools to be carried on, she has not left all schooling to the Mohammedans. Public schools have been established in Senegal and elsewhere in the West African possessions, in which children of the various races, tribes and religions are taught in French. At present these schools reach only a few thousand children in Senegal, but the system is being extended as rapidly as possible.

Excellent roads have been built by the French in Senegal, connecting the various towns and supplementing the river and rail routes to the sea coast. Dakar, which is situated under the lee of Cape Verde, the westernmost point of land in Africa, is the best port on the whole west coast, and almost the only port on that coast at which ocean-going vessels can tie up alongside a quay protected from the surf. As a result, the commerce of the port is heavy, and the trade route to the east starting there is used to distribute and collect supplies to and from extensive regions in the interior. Dakar is the seat of administration for all French West Africa, and has a larger European population (about 3,000) than any other town in Senegal or the neighboring countries.

No Place for White Men.

Senegal is not a "white man's country." Because of its climatic conditions it is unhealthful for Europeans and probably always will be. The French recognize this and have made no efforts to colonize the country. The European population is made up almost entirely of administrators of various kinds, and traders. This situation has made necessary the French plan of organizing the country largely on the basis of native states under protection.

Although cattle-raising on the grassy plains of the upper Senegal has long been the chief industry, agriculture has attained a place of greater importance in recent years. The principal article of export is the peanut, and considerable amounts of other oil seeds, oils, hides, rubber, timber and cocoa also are sent out. Senegal ships large quantities of kola or cola nuts. These are eaten by the natives throughout western Africa, and even in the more remote parts of the continent, because of their stimulating qualities.

Cotton grows wild and its production might be made into an important Senegalese industry but for the habits of the natives. They are unwilling to engage in the cultivation of a crop which requires considerable steady work and a relatively long wait for maturity. They prefer to raise such crops as peanuts and millet which require little attention between planting and harvest.

While there are a few tribes of natives in the outlying portions of Senegal whose members practice fetish worship, the great majority of the inhabitants of the "country proper" Mohammedanism. This religion was introduced back by the Berbers or "Moors" from the north and by several pure negroes who came from the West about the Thirteenth century and set up the powerful empire of Futa-Toucouleur. Some of the tribes of Senegal are apparently staunch Mohammedans, but others are only nominal followers of the Prophet, preserving their superstitions and pagan practices much as ancient Christians practiced to hold to such superstitions in Europe during the Dark Ages.

QUICK CHANGES IN PARIS MODES

CHIEF AIM IS BECOMINGNESS

Women of Refined Taste and Social Position Demand Dresses That Are Free From Undue Eccentricity.

At recent race meetings in the Bois de Boulogne, writes a Paris fashion correspondent, we have had an excellent opportunity of reviewing present-day fashions; indeed it would be more correct to say "present-hour," because at this season of the year fashions change very frequently. Extreme novelties are suddenly produced for the purpose of making a sensation—and a good advertisement for some particular dressmaker.

As frequently pointed out, the general outline remains graceful and simple; that is to say, the dresses worn by our more exclusive Parisiennes, also by American women of refined taste and assured social position, are perfection itself, free from undue eccentricity and essentially becoming.

But then we have other and widely different fashions which are freely exploited by daring young actresses and by women who like to find themselves the center of a wondering crowd. These remarkable costumes are also created to please a certain type of American buyer who insistently demands "something quite new and sensational."

At the races one realizes that longer skirts have really become popular. The Parisiennes have been slow to consent to the added inches; in New York the dresses were unlike length, when over here, in France, the majority of women wear dresses that cut the lower limbs half way between knee and ankle. Even now there are many very smart Parisiennes who actively object to long walking dresses. My personal opinion is that the latest models by Paul Poiret have had much to do with this fight against the added inches.

Models Long and Full.

At the beginning of the season Poiret launched models which were at one and the same time long and full. Women quickly realized that this outline, though quaint and picturesque, was not generally becoming; it called for a special type of woman and it rarely suited young girls.

Perhaps this was why so many of our best dressmakers—the real auto-crats of the rue de la Paix—have decided to retain the beautiful straight outlines of last year while adding width, actually, to the hem of the skirt. The reason is not easy to discover, but the fact remains.

Paquin, Worth, Doucet, Doeniller and others are showing lovely models which resemble those of yesterday, but which have much more material pressed into their composition.

At the fashionable race meetings one sees the most wonderful hats and toques. Quite amazing arrangements of paradise plumes, uncured ostrich feathers and egrettes—the latter as a rule artificial and cleverly made of the horse hair.

There is just now a craze for bushy feathers, which make their wearers look like a savage chief in full war costume. These feathers—always uncurled and straight—are placed in two or three rows round the crown of the hat or toque and allowed to fall over the eyes.

A curious fashion, but one which has caught on to an alarming extent. Ladies are trying to make as abrupt very short-cropped bath and swim hats, which have low crowns and scanty trimmings; the genuine "poodle" hat which used to be so dear to the heart of the artist "tribe." These hats will be immensely popular when the seaside season is in full swing, but for Paris they seem a little too remarkable.

As a matter of fact they are not really so remarkable as the small cap covered with struggling egrettes and feathers, which are now so generally worn, but the big "poodle" shapes are unexpected. It is quite a long time since we have worn them.

Short Jackets Popular.

The growing popularity of short jackets is something that must be taken into consideration. They are shown in all the best dressmaking studios and it is certain that they will become very popular.

Many of these little garments are of Breton outline. Almost exactly like the little coats worn by Breton peasants—the men—on Sundays and holidays. Very simple, rather wide at the hem, finished with long sleeves of pagoda outline and open in front.

I have seen jackets of this order chez Paquin, Reer and Renferm; they are distinctly original, but I do not consider them very becoming. Nevertheless they must be taken into serious consideration because they are going to be generally worn.

A model created by Renferm was worn at the Longchamps races. It was very simple in outline, but unusual. This was a genuine Breton model and it is one which will be very fashionable a little later on in the season.

ORCHARD GLEANINGS

METHOD OF KILLING PSYLLA

Most Satisfactory Spray Mixture Is Combination of Soap, Tobacco Extract and Water.

The best means of killing Psylla flies in spring is spraying during a period of warm weather during early spring. The most satisfactory mixture, from the standpoint of safety to fruit and least harm and effectiveness against the insect, is three-fourths of a pint of tobacco extract (40 per cent nicotine) in 100 gallons of water to which are added from three to five pounds of soap.

Eggs about to hatch and newly emerged nymphs succumb to an application of the lime-sulphur solution. By postponing the dormant treatment for the San Jose scale until the blossom cluster-buds are beginning to separate at the tips, very effective work can be done against the eggs. The lime-sulphur should be used in the proportion of one gallon of the concentrate 32 degrees B. to eight gallons of water. In some tests of oil emulsions, weak dilutions of nicotine and soapy solutions were of small value for the destruction of the eggs. On the other hand, the wash having considerable amounts of sediment (15-20-50 formula) was less destructive to the eggs but the young psyllas which hatched for the most part failed to reach the opening buds and these succumbed to the action of the sediment which became attached to their bodies after leaving the egg shells.

While the adult psyllas seem to prefer to spend the winter under the loose bark of the trees, they may seek shelter under any waste which affords protection. Matted weeds, tufts of grass, leaves, or rubbish on or about the trees present ideal hiding places for the insects.

The rough bark not only provides a shelter for the psyllas during the winter but it also constitutes the chief obstacle to thorough spraying during the dormant season to kill the hibernating flies. Its removal is desirable for two reasons: first, to render the trees less attractive for the purposes of hibernation during late fall, winter and early spring; and second, to facilitate a more thorough spraying of the trunks and lower portions of the larger limbs. The loose bark should be removed by a dull hoe or four scraper, preferably during a wet period, as the bark is then more easily detached. Care should be taken not to cut into the live tissues as the wounds may become infected with disease. The bark should be collected and burned to kill the insects which are attached to the scrapings.

The chief factors which make for efficient work against the hibernating psylla flies and their eggs are (1) a knowledge on the part of the grower of the habits of the flies and an acquaintance with the eggs; (2) an understanding of the conditions under which these stages are most vulnerable to sprays; (3) thorough work in spraying.

DESTROY PEACH TREE BORER

Fine Crystals of Para-dichlorobenzene Sprinkled Around Base of Trees Is Efficient.

The horticulturists of the United States Department of Agriculture have found a new agent for the eradication of the destructive peach tree borer which has done $10,000,000 damage annually. The most effective remedy known heretofore has been to dig the larvae out of the trunks of the trees or to kill them with a long sharp wire. The new treatment consists of sprinkling crystals of para-dichlorobenzene around the base of the trees and covering slightly with earth. The substance is highly volatile, readily changing to a gas which is heavier than air and settles down through the soil. The gas is an efficient destroyer of the pest. The para-dichlorobenzene can be obtained at any drug store. A pound is sufficient for eight or ten trees and costs only about 25 cents.

ARTIFICIAL MULCHING HELPS

Very Satisfactory Substitute for Cultivation and Is Good for Soil Management.

Trees properly mulched will be found much more productive and profitable than those left to compete with weeds and grass for water and food. As a matter of fact, artificial mulching is a very satisfactory substitute for cultivation and an entirely practicable method of soil management under many conditions.

RAISE EVERBEARING BERRIES

Their Productiveness May Be Attributed to Care as Well as Variety—Avoid Cheap Plants.

In my own experience, everbearing strawberries have proven a source of pleasure and profit. It has been three years since I started my patch with two plants from my experiment station, says a writer in Successful Farming. From those two plants have come all my present patch.

When my two plants arrived it was too early to set them out, so I planted them in a coffee pot and put them in the cellar. I planted them out in the garden as soon as the proper time came, but I took very little further notice of them that season. I had had experience with other everbearers, and had not been favorably impressed. Yet in spite of my neglect the two plants multiplied wonderfully. When the season was over, I found my two plants had increased to 25. Now my interest was really aroused.

I carefully set out these 25 plants the following spring. From them we gathered each week a large bowl of berries. They were certainly delicious, too. Again they increased remarkably. I had 250 plants to set out the following spring. I had become very enthusiastic by this time, and I gave them the care such plants should have. We were able to make a picking every other day, gathering from our small patch as high as six quarts at a single picking. It sounds almost like a fairy tale about the increase, but besides the fruit we raised 4,000 plants to set out last spring.

Last season we made a real business of handling the berries and raising plants. From our 4,000 plants we picked 1,044 quarts of berries during the season. Our record picking for a single week was 180 quarts, gathered during the week of August 11 to 16. We sold all of these to the summer resort near our place, at 40 cents a quart. This single week's picking netted $75.60, a very fair income for one week for just strawberries alone.

Of course, we are at an advantage in having our market within a mile of the place, but we also made an effort to use good selling methods. On each box of berries we stamped our name and address, so people would know where the fruit came from. This one little point greatly increased the interest of our customers, which in turn increased our sales.

In our experience these have been the only berries from which we have obtained fruit the first season. For us they have borne from July until November. Their productiveness may be attributed to care as well as variety. We gave them good care after the first year, employing the best methods we knew.

In selecting a variety of plant, get one of proven value. It may be that you will have to content yourself with a smaller number at first, but in the long run it is the only really good way to get a start. Do not try to get cheap plants, or something for nothing.

After you receive your plants get them into the ground as soon as possible. See that the ground is well prepared and in good garden rith. If the ground is not ready, or if it is too early to plant, open the boxes and keep in the plants.

LOCATION FOR SMALL FRUITS

North or Northwestern Exposure Is Favored Because Buds Don't Start Early in Spring.

There is a general opinion that all varieties of small fruit, such as peaches, pears, plums, cherries, etc., will thrive better when set out on land that has a north or northwestern exposure. The reason for this being so, is that the buds will not start as early in the spring and are caught by the first frost after warm weather comes for a few days.

Cultivating Blackberries.

Blackberries are not cultivated for their fruit to any large extent except in America. Here the cultivation of this berry began about 30 years ago.

WHY Loyalty Is One of the Greatest Human Attributes.

When a man is loyal, he has found the supreme bonus of life, writes Nathan Howard Gist in Pennsylvania Gist. More than good, he is good for something. His loyalty warms his heart. It wins the confidence of others toward him, whether they love or hate him. His loyalty shines out as the finest of qualities. When a man is loyal, there is no domestic strife so far as he is concerned. When a woman is loyal, her husband trusts her everywhere, and justly so. Loyalty is the antidote for divorce.

When a man is loyal, he has no trouble to speak of in his industrial plant. His employees love him, and every man in his employ would cut off his right arm for him.

When a man is loyal, he gives his employer the best he has. He may find his work distasteful. His hours may be long and badly arranged for him. His general surroundings may be anything but pleasant. But while he is in the employment of that man, he has sense enough not to condemn his employer. His loyalty puts a padlock on his lips, and he frowns on any suggestion of disparagement.

When a man is loyal, he dampens the finger of scorn. He places a damper on the devilish gossip that poisons the whole community. He plucks every thistle he sees, and plants a rose in its place.

When a man is loyal, he is the inveterate foe of malice, or friction, or the divisions of opinion that separate men.

When a man is loyal, he is true to his country—in time of war, which is occasional, in times of peace, which is nearly all of the time. His best patriotism is the patriotism of peace.

COUNTRY'S NEED OF FORESTS

Why Men Who Know Are Protesting Against the Destruction of Our National Resources.

The ruthless destruction of their forests by the Chinese, according to foresters of the United States Department of Agriculture, one of the reasons why famine and plague today hold this nation in their sinister grasp. Denudation, wherever practiced, leaves naked soil; floods and erosion follow, and when the soil is gone men must also go—and the process does not take long. Forests, it is pointed out, not only play an important part in the distribution of mankind over the earth's surface, but also deeply affect his spiritual, physical, and economic life. A country that recklessly wastes its natural resources faces ultimate poverty and decadence. History is full of such examples.

In the province of Huanan, Shensi, and Chihli, China, over an area some 100,000 square miles in extent, several million people are starving. The immediate causes of the famine were disastrous floods followed by long periods of drought, which resulted in the failure of three successive crops.

Why Many Are Color Blind.

London Quakers and East End Jews are said to be more liable to color blindness than any other people, reports the London News. Prof. Henri M. Leon told the color circle of the International College of Chromatics that this may be because the original Quakers were opposed to brilliant colors, and because of the poor environment in which many Jews have had to live.

Men are more subject to color blindness than women, he said. Four men in every 100 are so afflicted, but only one woman in every 200 is color blind—probably because women are used to brilliantly colored clothes. There is no cure for inherited color blindness.

Professor Leon said there were three kinds of color blindness—failure to distinguish color at all, the confusion of red with green, black and brown and the failure to distinguish shades, such as blue and violet.

Why Mountains Are Loved.

All the world loves the mountains—loves them as color patterns on the blue, as marvels of light and shade, as symbols of peace and purity—loves them, in other words, as one might a picture. That there is a supreme grandeur about the peaks and a great beauty in the lesser hills every one will acknowledge. But the grandeur of the peaks is as hard to capture with the brush as the beauty of the hills with the pen. The landscape-painter and the writer have had very moderate success in portraying them. The great features of nature seem to elude representation.—John G. Van Dyke.

Why Thermometers Vary.

Thermometers vary in their indications mainly on account of exposure, assuming that the instruments themselves register similarly under like conditions. The height above ground is an important factor, particularly on still nights, when radiation is quite active near the earth's surface, at which time important differences between thermometers located only short distances apart are recorded. When there is considerable air movement these differences disappear to a great extent.

Why He Was Let Off.

"What was the trouble with that young man that you let him go? I thought him particularly clever." "That was the trouble. He seemed to have the idea that he was clever enough to hold a job for which any other physical creature."

TO CELEBRATE BRIDGE OPENING

President of Chamber of Commerce Authorized To Name Committee To Cooperate In Proper Observance of Important Event In City's Progress.

At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon the president was authorized to appoint a special committee to take up the matter of securing arrangements for an appropriate celebration of the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge for traffic.

The following resolution was adopted unanimously:

Whereas the bridge across the Rondout creek at Kingston is now nearing completion, and

Whereas this is a most important link in the New York state highway system between New York city and Albany, and

Whereas with the completion of this bridge and of the Storm King road there will be available on the west side of the Hudson river one of the finest scenic highways to be found anywhere in the United States, and

Whereas this bridge is also of great importance to the city of Kingston in that it will afford more convenient communication between Kingston and a large part of the surrounding territory, and

Whereas the Kingston Chamber of Commerce has been active for many years in working to secure the construction of this bridge,

Therefore be it resolved that in the judgment of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce a fitting and appropriate celebration of the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge for traffic is a highly important and interesting matter to the people of Kingston and

Be it further resolved that the president is hereby authorized to appoint a special committee whose function it shall be to confer with other organizations and with public officials and individuals interested in this matter in order that a proper and fitting celebration of this important event may be arranged.

TOKIO PRESS IS SUSPICIOUS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Tokio, July 14 (Delayed).—Following publication here today by all Tokyo newspapers of the text of President Harding's disarmament conference invitation, as issued by the foreign office it was announced unofficially that Japan's reply had been transmitted to the United States through the American embassy.

Simultaneously with the release by the foreign office of the text of the invitation, a statement briefly summarizing the position of Japan on the subject was issued. In effect it said:

"Japan agrees to the disarmament proposal idea but desires to know the program proposed by the United States."

With the publication of the text of the invitation, first favorable press comment has been followed up by a campaign of newspaper criticism questioning American motives in calling the conference.

The Asahi expresses the hope that Japan can persuade the United States to detach the discussion of Far Eastern problems from the disarmament conference.

"We sincerely hope," said a paper, "that President Harding can be persuaded to detach discussion of Pacific problems from the disarmament question and that he will not insist upon settlement first of the Far Eastern questions. It is desirable that the all important naval question should be settled first. The Pacific disarmament issues should be considered separately."

None Named to Mexican Commission.

START FOR CAMP ORANGE MONDAY

Twenty Boys From Here Will Camp With Orange County "Y" Boys At Ideal Place In Palisades Park—Camp Rules And Program.

Next Monday morning nearly twenty boys from the local Y. M. C. A. will leave for a two weeks camping trip near Bear Mountain. They will leave on the 9:05 West Shore train and will be in charge of Norman A. Dillinger, physical director at the "Y," who will be assisted by Fred Meeker, in the capacity of assistant camp leader.

An ideal site has been selected on Cedar Lake in the Palisades Interstate Park, eight miles west of Bear Mountain and 1,030 feet above sea level. Several sleeping cottages have been recently constructed. In addition to this, is a large mess hall outfit with tables, seats and a large fire place at one end. Undoubtedly this will be the place of a number of evening entertainments, with stunts, stories, etc.

The camp is located on a bluff overlooking the three hundred acre lake. There is a dock for the boats, a diving platform and a swimming crib for the non-swimmers. All swimming and boating will be under the direction of competent adult leaders.

The local Association has joined with the Orange County Y. M. C. A. in the promotion of Camp Orange and in this way from sixty to eighty boys will be in camp. A volunteer adult leader for every eight boys will assist the camp leaders in regulating the camp.

The camp life includes the usual outdoor activities such as swimming, boating, hiking, fishing, games, nature study and woodcraft. Honor awards and emblems will be given for standards attained in various tests, including the largest fish, those learning to swim at camp, etc.

The daily program follows.

A. M.
7:00 Reveille, Morning Watch, Setting Up Exercises.
8:00 Breakfast.
8:30 Chapel.
9:00 Camp Duties.
9:30 Scouting, Woodcraft, etc.
11:30 Morning Swim.

P. M.
12:15 Tent Inspection.
1:00 Dinner.
1:15 Rest.
2:30 Boating, Hikes, Sports.
5:00 Afternoon Swim.
6:00 Colors Lowered.
6:15 Supper.
7:00 Games, Boating.
8:00 Campfire Stunts, Stories.
9:15 Taps, Lights out and then nine hours sleep.

The above program will be rigidly adhered to and every boy will be expected to take part in each activity unless excused by leader for some cause.

The sanitary arrangements are under the direct supervision of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission. All camp refuse will be carried away from the camp so that infection of the water or soil is impossible. The drinking water is piped into the camp from a source that has been analyzed and is absolutely pure. Nothing has been left undone to safeguard the health of the campers.

There are very few rules except that a spirit of unselfishness, loyalty and cooperation will rule the camp. Smoking and fire arms will be prohibited by all connected with the camp.

The boys from Kingston that have already signed to attend the camp are Philip Hall, Karl Messinger, Sam Messinger, Bobbie Jenkins, Archie Rook, Buster Howard, Oscar Wiber, Watson Bailey, Floyd Burger, Cutler Brown, David Elton, Albert Avet, Charles Kelley and Walter Brown. A few more boys between the ages of 12 and 18 can be taken to camp if they get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday.

Mail addressed to the boys in camp should be addressed to Camp Orange, Southfield, N. Y. By previous arrangements with the camp leaders, parents or visitors can be accommodated over night at the rate of $1.25 per day, including meals. The camp can be reached by the West Shore Railroad to Bear Mountain and then by bus line to within a short distance of camp. The dates of the camp will be July 15 to 30.

NEW FIELD FOR EXPERTS.

Doctor's Emphasis on Intoxication Accepted in Court.

A new field for experts has been discovered at Cairo, Greene county, where Duward Wilsey was arrested on a charge of public intoxication. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Burham he pleaded not guilty and said he was not intoxicated. Dr. Parsons was called and after an examination declared he was under the influence of strong drink. Whereupon Duward was sent to jail for thirty days.

William J. Stemple of Hudson was arrested by Sheriff George Osborne for operating a car while intoxicated. He too, was taken before Justice Burham, where he pleaded not guilty. Dr. Parsons was again called in for examination and to give testimony. The court held that professional assistance was sufficient and sent Stemple to jail for fifteen days.

DARING THEFT AT EDDYVILLE

This morning about 5 o'clock four men in an automobile bearing a New Jersey license, drove up and stopped in front of the garage of Anthony Taddonio, just across the bridge at Eddyville, and breaking into the garage rolled Mr. Taddonio's 1918 model Oldsmobile touring car out into the road, and drove away with it.

They were last heard of passing through St. Remy and were headed towards New Paltz.

At the time Mr. Taddonio was sound asleep at his home, but the four strangers were seen by a neighbor, who notified Mr. Taddonio. The license number on the stolen car is 34041 N. Y., and initials "A. T." are on the panels of the doors. The sheriff's office and police headquarters were notified and a general alarm has been sent out together with a description of the car.

THREE HURT WHEN CAR HIT POLE

This morning a touring car containing a party of New York residents on their way to the mountains skidded on the state road in the town of Esopus, about two miles south of the residence of Dr. Ross in Port Ewen, and crashed into a telegraph pole. None of the party were hurt out of the car, but three were injured and hurried to the Kingston City Hospital.

The three were F. Roth, Mrs. F. Roth and Miss Blanche Roth, all of New York city. Miss Roth has a bad laceration over the right eye and on the right cheek. Mrs. Roth has an injured knee, and Mr. Roth two broken ribs.

The car was wrecked so badly that it had to be towed to Kingston for repairs.

SIFT WEISENSTEIN 'DEATH EVIDENCE'

An inquest was held at Ellenville Thursday before Coroner Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson, to inquire into the death of George Weisenstein, a small boy who was killed at Ellenville on June 21, when he was struck by a three ton motor truck owned by a man named Rosenthal and driven by George Rose.

The Weisenstein boy, with a number of other children, were playing in a yard and along a driveway leading into the yard, on Canal street, in the rear of which Rosenthal kept his truck under a shed.

Rose drove the truck in the yard while the children were playing, in tending to put up the truck for the day. There was but little evidence to show how the accident occurred, but indications pointed to the fact that the children had started to run when the truck came in the yard. After coming in the yard and turning to back and it was at that time the Weisenstein boy was struck.

He suffered a fractured skull and died almost instantly. Driver Rose was not sworn. None of the witnesses saw the accident except an uncle who said the right rear wheel had passed over the boy's head. While the skull was fractured, the skull was not mashed so might be expected if the wheel had passed over it.

Coroner Humiston will file his findings in the case later. The examination was conducted by District Attorney Traver. A New York city attorney was present at the hearing on behalf of the accident insurance company in which Mr. Rosenthal carried insurance: William D. Brininger, Jr. of this city also was present.

DWYER BROTHERS IN NEW VENTURE

First Local Firm to Attempt to Open Transportation on Great Lakes Via Barge Canal—Are Sending Three Barges Loaded With Cement to Cleveland.

In an attempt to open navigation between Hudson river ports and the ports along the Great Lakes, Dwyer Brothers of this city are sending three of their large 1,000 ton barges through the barge canal to Lake Erie, consigned to Cleveland, Ohio.

The three barges are now on the way up the river from New York city in a tow and will be dropped off at Hudson where they will be loaded with cement. The barges are the C. R. O'Connor, P. J. Barry and Thomas P. Brennan.

When loaded they will be towed to Troy where the barge canal starts and towed through the canal to Buffalo and thence by way of Lake Erie to Cleveland, Ohio, one of the longest and most dangerous voyages ever attempted by barges.

Dwyer Brothers when seen today said that if the barges reached Cleveland safely that they would return with full cargoes, probably of grain, consigned to ports along the river or in New York.

With the barge canal in operation it widens the field of transportation for Hudson river barges, and undoubtedly other transportation companies will watch with interest the venture now being made by the local concern. If the venture proves successful it undoubtedly means that water transportation to points along the Great Lakes from Hudson river ports will be given a great impetus.

KILLS SELF IN PITCHER'S BOX

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, July 15.—"I have played so many games of baseball here, this is the place I want to die."

So reads the note found beside the body of Arthur Esposito, 22 years old, former Somerville High School student, when the youth's body with a bullet in the brain, was discovered in the pitcher's box of the Tufts Oval today. A .38 calibre revolver with one bullet exploded by near the body.

The note, addressed to "my dear, dearest mother," read:

"Please do not grieve. Live the rest of your life as happy as possible. 'Pa, please be good to her and love her as you should."

He goes on to say he had tried without success to overcome a nervous trouble. Esposito's parents reside at Fairmount, W. Va.

A message addressed to "Horace" believed to be Horace Ford of the Boston National Baseball Team, read: "Good luck, Horace, play your head off for the Braves."

KILLS HUSBAND OF EMPLOYER

Harry G. Hemming, N. Y. Broker, Shot By Caretaker On Estate Of Wife From Whom He Was Estranged—Caretaker Then Takes Own Life.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Northport, L. I., July 15.—Harry G. Hemming, a New York broker was shot dead at his wife's country home on Duck Island, four miles from here last night, according to the police, by Frank Eberhart, a caretaker for Mrs. Hemming.

Eberhart then went to his own room and killed himself. The tragedy did not become known until today when the authorities set about trying to unravel several mysterious angles.

Mrs. Hemming was a witness to the killing of her husband, whom she had only been married for two months. They had separated two weeks after the wedding and, according to Mrs. Hemming's story, the shooting was the result of her husband's attempt at reconciliation. He was her third husband.

Eberhart held a commission as special deputy sheriff. He had worked as a caretaker for Mrs. Hemming for several years, and it was she who had him appointed to the sheriff's staff.

Deputy Sheriff Biggs, who made a preliminary investigation, and to whom Mrs. Hemming told her story, said she declared she had no idea Eberhart would shoot her husband when she warned him that Hemming was coming.

According to Mrs. Hemming's story, she met Hemming in the waiting room of the Pennsylvania station last night and he demanded that they talk over their troubles. She did not wish to do this, but upon his insistence, she entered his auto, supposedly for a ride so that they might discuss their differences. Presently the chauffeur headed straight for her island home and when they stopped at Center Port she telephoned to Eberhart to be in readiness to help her.

Later she learned that immediately after the telephone message Eberhart got a revolver, showed it to her 14 year old daughter from a previous marriage and told her he was going to shoot Hemming and then himself.

After killing the broker, Eberhart bade good-bye to Mrs. Hemming, her daughter and the butler and then ran to his room where he ended his own life.

John Conrad Kloes of Brooklyn and Miss Beulah Marian Massino of Mineola, were married on July 5, 1921, by the Rev. Hugh Gordon in Pittsfield, Mass. The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Massino of Cementon, and a graduate of Saugerties High School.

Roenngen-Adamson.
The marriage of the well known cellist, Engelbert Roenngen, to Helena Helrich Adamson, both of Woodstock, was performed Thursday, July 14, by the Rev. Adam Schmidt, pastor of the Lutheran Trinity Church of this city. They were attended by Robert Dalt and William E. Reynolds.

Pardy-Ayers.
Mrs. John T. Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sapp of Haverhill, this city, was married to George Pardy of Elmira, N. Y., Saturday, July 9, at St. Patrick's Church, Elmira, the Rev. Father Coran officiating. They will make their home at Elmira where Mrs. Ayers has resided for a number of years.

Birthday Party.
Thursday evening, July 14, a party was held at the home of Miss Elsie Scholde, No. 47 Second avenue, the occasion being her sixteenth birthday. Games and singing were enjoyed by all present. At an early hour of the evening a buffet luncheon was served by the mother of the guests.

In the middle of the table there was a large birthday cake, artistically decorated with pink candles. The guests departed at an early hour, wishing Elsie many more happy birthdays. Those present were the Misses Dorothy and Jeanie Englebrecht, Helen Storm, Gertrude and Hilda Walker, Loretta Wendland, Mary Warren, Elizabeth Elwes, and Carrie Wiedemann.

Bulgaria Not to Fight.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, July 15.—Bulgaria will not intervene in the Greco-Turkish war, said a message from Premier Stambouloff at Sofia today. The International News Service sent a telegram to the Bulgarian premier asking him to commit himself upon reports that Bulgaria was preparing to attack Greece and the following reply was received: "The reports are untrue. Bulgaria will not attack Greece. Bulgaria is determined to respect the Treaty of Serres and wishes to remain at peace. She does not want to mix either in Greek or Turkish affairs."

Food Was Cheaper.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—"I will not turn down any reasonable offer," Secretary of War Weeks said this afternoon, commenting on the proposal of Henry Ford to take over the government's wheat plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—The "renewal of neglect and failure" in the care of the country's sick and maimed soldiers was declared by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, in the senate today to be a "disgrace to the nation."

Walsh vigorously opposed the Penrose motion to recommend the soldiers bonus bill to the senate finance committee as suggested by President Harding.

"I do not propose to deny the fact that we have failed miserably to speedily and properly extend adequate hospital facilities for the care and treatment of our disabled soldiers," Walsh said.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—A sham battle was staged by West Virginia coal operators in order to force the declaration of martial law in the Mingo coal fields, according to testimony given today by Albert Kirkpatrick of Portsmouth, Ohio, before the senate committee investigating labor conditions in the Mingo fields.

Kirkpatrick said he had worked as a mine foreman for the Burnell Coal Company at Sprigg, West Virginia, and had plotted with the officials of the mine to stage the sham battle "so that we could get martial law."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—The stock market was unsettled in the early trading this morning, with the steel industrials the weak feature. Bethlehem Steel "B" dropped 1 1/2 to 46. Crucible Steel ex-dividend was down 1/2 at 51. C. S. Steel after opening unchanged yielded 1/2 to 73. Mexican Petroleum was off 1/2 to 103. Pierce-Arrow fell 1/2 to 17 1/2. Atlantic Locomotive declined 1/2 to 73 1/2. Studebaker declined 1/2 to 73 1/2. Northern Pacific was off 1/2 to 71 1/2.

Business was almost at a standstill during the greater part of the forenoon and movements consisted of a return of quotations to around the range prevailing around the close yesterday. The steel industrials were without demand except that which came from early sellers. Bethlehem Steel "B" after falling 2 points to 45 1/2 rallied to 46 and C. S. Steel was unchanged from yesterday's final price. Studebaker which yielded to 78 1/2 moved up to 79 1/2. Mexican Petroleum rallied from 102 1/2 to 103 1/2. Famous Players was a weak feature selling down 3 1/2 points to 45 1/2, a new low record. Baldwin Locomotive rallied to 73 1/2.

United States Steel became the chief feature in the late afternoon. That stock selling down to 71 1/2, a new low for this movement. Other steel industrials were fairly well held. Mexican Petroleum after its advance to 105 1/2 reacted to 102 1/2. Famous Players after selling down to 45 1/2 rallied to 48.

The market closed heavy; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

LIBERIAN LOAN UP TO CONGRESS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 15.—A loan of $5,000,000 to Liberia has been agreed upon by the state department. It developed today when Secretary of the Treasury Mellon again appeared before the senate finance committee to discuss the foreign loans situation.

Legislation authorizing the advance already has been prepared and is in the hands of Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee.

Penrose announced he is withholding its submission to the rest of the committee "pending further conferences with the state department."

JACK FROST HOLDS SECRET

Yet We May Gather Something of What Must Be Learned if One Would Remain Young.

As if to crown the year, autumn not only brings her mellow fruitfulness and golden days of summer warmth, but occasionally opens the door and lets old winter in. It all happened as predicted, remarks the "Herald," the stars came out clear and bright, the moon was gorgeous in its round refulgence, but there was an ominous stillness in the air. When the door was left ajar, stinging cold sent her arrow through. The next morning when the sun arose he had more work than usual on his hands. The frozen forms of sparrows, king birds and the drooping goldenrod and crowned the aster with a heavy new. The smoke rose straight skyward from the many chimneys round about, while the roofs steamed with incense unknown to them for many weeks.

Autumn had simply turned another page to bear witness to her versatility. She announced that time was up for pinching grape or late strawberry blossom. The wondrous drama that had for five months past been staged in every garden was for the season closed, but the mighty color pageant of October still remains to celebrate for days in hill and dale the harvest bounty.

What is the secret of this transformed world in field and pasture? Jack Frost has brought with him invigorating air together with the wisp and zest of the whole year. But he has steadily put to sleep the flower fairies of the summer. And he has done it by checking the flow of sap and leaf, stalk and trunk. In place of flexibility there is now rigidity of stem and petal, and where pliability was once the mark of garden life stiffness is now upon her flower children.

Who can fail to see written in the garden a parable for man? Alas! well for him as long as he keeps his frame plastic and his mind open to new ideas and enthusiasms. Vital interest in new issues and a large openness of mind do much to keep a man young. But once let dogmatism touch him, or let him become crabbed or cocksure, set or opinionated, and the frost touches him to check his growth.

Richard Le Gallienne cites well the secret of the frost in saying that "a man is not old till he ceases to fall in love, carries a pocket mirror to examine his tongue." The frost hits him when "he begins to say that times are changed and begins to speak of young people as a separate and disappointing class." The frost touch of rigidity is the secret of Jack Frost.

No time limit has been set to growth in the garden of the human mind. When a man is so foolish as to stake these limits for himself, then he makes himself liable to the beumbing blight of Jack Frost.

Real Republican Prayer.

On March 4 the school children of Terre Haute were instructed to utter a two-minute prayer for Mr. Harding. One primary teacher told her children all about Mr. Harding, the position he was taking and all the responsibilities he was to have. So at eleven o'clock she said: "Now, children, fold your hands and bow your heads. This is the time we're going to pray."

But up went the hand of a very ardent little Methodist Sunday school scholar. "Please, teacher, may I lead in prayer?" he asked.

His teacher nodded, and he uttered his earnest little prayer. "Dear Mr. Harding—Please bless me and keep us forever and forever. Amen."—Indianapolis News.
